SLATON EXPECTED TO INSPECT SCENE OF MURDER TODAY

The Governor, Lawyers for Frank and the Solicitor General Spend Sunday Working Hard on Case.

DORSEY WILL PRESENT NEW AFFIDAVITS TODAY

Hearing Will Be Resumed at 9 O'Clock This Morning—A Mass Meeting of Protest Held Sunday.

Because of the nearness of the date fixed for the execution, June 22, and of the expedition with which a decision must be reached, the fact that it was a day of rest did not deter activities in the Leo Frank case Sunday.

Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey spent much time during the day with colleagues, preparing the argument which he will submit to the governor when the Frank hearing is resumed at the capitol this morning at 9 o'clock.

Governor Slaton devoted most of the day to a review of the evidence in the case and of documentary data submitted to him by both the prosecution and defense. It is probable that he will go today with a delegation from the state and defense to the pencil factory, where he will familiarize himself with the surroundings in which the Mary Phagan murder was committed. Counsel for the defense conferred during Sunday afternoon.

Mass Meeting of Protest.

At 3 o'clock an anti-commutation mass meeting was held on the capitol grounds, where a number of speakers argued against executive clemency on the grounds that it would be an interference with justice.

The first business to be taken up at this morning's hearing will probably be Solicitor Dorsey's argument in protest of commutation. Although he will give no advance report upon his argument, he has prepared a brief in which, it is said, he will attempt to show that Frank would have been found guilty without the aid of Jim Conley's testimony.

Will Introduce Affidavits.

Many affidavits bearing on the case will be submitted by Dorsey, according to authoritative reports.

Governor Slaton, although he stated Sunday that he did not know exactly when the visit would be made, will, in all likelihood, accompany a delegation to the pencil factory either this morning or this afternoon to inspect the plant, particularly the second floor and basement. Although practically every other authority connected with the famous case, excepting the jury, has examined the pencil factory surroundings, it will be the governor's first trip.

He expressed a decision to inspect the factory during the first day's hearing, and said that he intended, before it was over, to look over the building.

Perhaps a hundred or more women attended the anti-Frank mass meeting, which was held on the lawn of the capitol at 3 o'clock. Perhaps 600 were in attendance. Addresses opposing executive action against the trial verdict were delivered by H. D. Spencer, who addressed a similar meeting Saturday afternoon on the same spot; R. W. Jordan and N. F. Kent, who presided.

The crowd was orderly, although there was loud cheering, which attracted crowds passing along the streets.

Attorney William Howard, who will present the argument for Frank, will have the concluding speech in the hearing before the governor.

BISHOP C. K. NELSON RECHOSEN FOR REGENT

Nashville, Tenn., June 13.—The Rev. James C. Morris, dean of St. Mary's cathedral, Memphis, has been elected to the chair of ecclesiastical history in the theological department of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., by the board of trustees. The board also elected the Rev. C. K. Nelson, bishop of Atlanta, and Dr. John H. P. Hodgson, of New York, to succeed themselves on the board of regents of the university, for a term of three years.

New regents elected for three years to fill expired vacancies are the Rev. Carol N. Davis, dean of the cathedral in St. Louis, and Dr. W. M. Polk, dean of the medical department of Cornell university, New York.

The board of trustees also re-elected the other officers of the university, according to its annual customs.

58 COLLEGE PRESIDENTS ARE LOYAL TO WILSON

New York, June 13.—The American League to Limited Armaments today sent to President Wilson a composite letter from 58 college presidents, testifying to their loyalty to him in the position he has taken with Germany, and expressing their confidence that he will be able to bring about a peaceful adjustment.

Included in the letter is a summary of the message from the educators entitled, "peace program for trying times," which suggests the immediate entertainment at Washington of a league of neutral nations "which could more forcefully assert our, and all other neutral, rights than many army corps and battleships."

ST. PAUL WAS CONVOYED BY BRITISH WARSHIPS

New York, June 13.—With all cabin and steerage accommodations taken, most of the cabin passengers homecoming Americans, the American line steamship St. Paul arrived here today from Liverpool. The liner was convoyed through the war zone by two British torpedo boat destroyers.

Some of the passengers said that a German submarine was sighted and was chased away by the destroyers, but this was denied by the ship's officers.

Six survivors of the Lusitania were on board. In the second cabin were fifteen members of the crew of the American tanker Gulflight, torpedoed by a German submarine and later beached at Penzance.

FIVE NEAR DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Miss Leonora Rheams, of New Orleans, and George Braunganty Are Taken to Grady Hospital.

Three young women, one a singer, and two men narrowly escaped death late Sunday afternoon when an automobile in which they were riding suddenly left the Marietta road while rounding a steep curve just beyond the Southern bridge, 4 miles from the city, and crashed into a telephone pole, spilling its occupants.

Miss Leonora Rheams, a singer, of New Orleans, La., who is visiting Mrs. P. J. Everett, of 101 Hurt street, received a deep laceration across her scalp and a severe laceration on her right hand.

Miss Rheams and George Braunganty, a hardware dealer, of Currier street, who was driving the machine, were removed to Grady hospital in the machine of C. H. Mathews, of the Georgia Railway and Power company, who came along the road in his car shortly after the accident occurred. Braunganty sprained his back severely.

The two injured were riding on the front seat of the car, and Mrs. Everett, her husband and another guest, Mrs. A. U. Butler, of New Orleans, were riding in the tonneau. None of these was injured, beyond being badly shaken up and frightened.

Mrs. Butler accompanied the injured in the Mathews car to Grady hospital. The car was completely wrecked.

ATLANTA TEACHERS TO BE NAMED TODAY

Board Will Probably Elect Eugene Ragland to Succeed Prof. Dykes at Boys' High School.

After spending a week canvassing the list of teachers and applicants for appointment to places in the public schools, the board of education will, this afternoon, hold the annual election and, in addition to the re-election of old teachers, will name twenty-seven additional new teachers for the high schools.

W. F. Dykes, principal of the Boys' high school, will be elected assistant superintendent today, and Eugene Ragland, for many years teacher in the Boys' high, will probably be named principal to succeed Mr. Dykes. Mr. Dykes' election may be postponed for some days, however.

L. M. Landrum, formerly assistant superintendent of schools, but now serving as temporary superintendent until July 31, when M. L. Brittain will take charge, will be made a member of the Boys' high faculty, according to latest reports.

SUPPLEMENTARY BRIEF FOR THE RIGGS NATIONAL

Washington, June 13.—Counsel for the Riggs National bank have filed with the District of Columbia supreme court a supplementary brief dealing with legal phases of the pending suit to enjoin treasury officials from interfering with the bank. The brief submits that there is no merit in the government's contention that, because the $5,000 interest due the bank and withheld to cover penalties imposed by the comptroller of the currency is in the vaults of the treasury, the court is without power to command its payment. It argues, too, that the comptroller had no authority to require the bank to submit information demanded by him.

ARRESTED FOR JUMPING FROM BROOKLYN BRIDGE

New York, June 13.—Daniel Carone, a sailor of Mount Vernor, N. Y., was arrested on a charge of attempted suicide today after he had jumped from the Brooklyn bridge into the East river, more than a hundred feet below.

Two weeks ago Henry Clark, a West Philadelphia machinist, who made the jump, was killed.

Carone said he performed the feat to convince doubting friends it was possible.

Killed by Baseball.

Uniontown, Pa., June 13.—Allen W. Blosser, 22, of Cheathaven, died in a hospital today as a result of being struck on the head by a baseball.

GERMAN EDITORS SHARPLY DIVIDE ON AMERICAN NOTE

Some of Them Disposed to Favor Negotiations for Compromise, While Others Insist on Following Present Course.

TORPEDOING TO CONTINUE SOME EDITORS DECLARE

They Insist That Germany Must Use Any Means to Prevent Ammunition Reaching Allies—Germans Don't Understand Why Bryan Resigned.

Berlin, June 13.—(Via London.)—The Berlin morning papers generally comment more or less extendedly on the American note along the lines followed by the Saturday evening papers.

While there is a general disposition to recognize the friendly tone of the note and the fact that it makes further negotiations possible, the press is divided, roughly, into two parties, one disposed to enter into negotiations looking to a compromise on a new basis, while the other, by implication or expressly, rejects any departure from the course heretofore followed. Among the representatives of the latter idea is The Tagliche Rundschau, which declares that while the note seeks a way to a compromise, it seeks it along lines "which must result to the disadvantage of Germany."

The Rundschau continues: "The note, therefore, is calculated only to postpone a settlement of German-American relations, and not bring it about. The friendly tone we acknowledge, but the declaration that the sinking of the Lusitania was unparalleled in modern warfare seems opposed to the character of upright friendship."

"Torpedoing Will Go On."

The Rundschau defends the sinking of the Lusitania and in conclusion, declares: "And the watchword is: 'The torpedoing will go on.'"

The Kreuz Zeitung emphasizes Germany's right to prevent the shipment of ammunition to an enemy by every means. It also is unable to see what England can offer in return for the abandonment of the submarine campaign, "since the plan to starve Germany has finally failed."

Count von Reventlow in The Tages Zeitung says: "If President Wilson persists in his refusal to recognize the German declaration of war zone, we are not able to conceive of an agreement, or even a real understanding."

Count von Reventlow adds: "President Wilson brushes aside with a light gesture the chief part of the German note as unimportant. When President Wilson appeals for morality and human rights let him extend these noble motives first to American munitions. Germany cannot abandon the use of her best implement of war merely in order that Americans may sail the war zone on British ships."

The Offer to Mediate.

The Morgen Post says: "The note is filled with tones of heartiness and friendliness and seeks to open and smooth the way for further negotiations. The offer to mediate between Germany and Great Britain will unquestionably be gladly accepted by the German government, and if mediation fails it will be Great Britain's fault."

The Morgen Post praises the uprightness of the United States and hopes that it will be possible to demonstrate that Germany is acting within her rights.

The Tageblatt says: "It cannot be seen why the German governmnt should be able to enter into a discussion with the American government concerning another kind and manner of naval warfare. This possibility is increased by the American offer of mediation with England. The answer will not be ready for several weeks, but it must be said that the German people now, as before, lay great weight on undisturbed relations with the United States, whose wars of liberation they once joyfully greeted and within whose borders millions of Germans have found new homes.

Nothing Like Ultimatum.

"The earnest character of the note may not be overlooked, but it contains nothing even indirectly can be looked upon as an ultimatum."

Die Post is dissatisfied, saying: "The note sails the old course and demands the cessation of our submarine campaign, and again emphasizes the remarkable special right of American citizens to voyage through a war zone as passengers on ships belonging to belligerent powers."

The newspaper says that negotiations will continue, but whether a real result can be obtained is questionable, since the demand of the "Anglo-Americans" that the submarine warfare be stopped "lies outside the scope of practical discussions."

The Kreuz Zeitung finds the arguments contained in the American note "quite convincing."

"The note," it says, "tries to meet Germany's well considered arguments with an appeal to humanitarian duties, whereas Germany's first humanitarian duty is to protect her soldiers from American ammunition shipments."

GERMANS WONDER WHY BRYAN QUIT.

Berlin, June 13.—(Via London.)—The Sunday morning newspapers of Berlin generally profess inability to understand the motives prompting William Jennings Bryan to retire from the post of secretary of state. The Morgen Post says:

"The former secretary seems to have less confidence than we in the honest desire of the American government to arrive at a peaceful compromise with us. Mr. Bryan is convinced that President Wilson and his government will finally appeal to force. We are not now disposed to believe this, but will await events."

The Boerzen Zeitung says: "Bryan's resignation has been interpreted as indicating that the note would be rather blunt which, however, in no wise is the case. The note shows, on the contrary, an outspoken tendency to reach an understanding with Germany on the

EX-MAYOR ERNESTO NATHAN OF ROME. ITALIAN RESERVISTS SAILING.

When the steamship Duca degli Abruzzi sailed from New York for Naples with a number of Italian reservists aboard, Collector of the Port Malone had one of the chiefs of his neutrality squad at the pier to see that the Abruzzi did not go out armed. Ernesto Nathan, ex-mayor of Rome, past grand master of Masons in Italy, minister plenipotentiary to this country by appointment of the king and commissioner general of Italy to the Panama-Pacific exposition, who was a passenger, said he was hurrying back to his country in the hope that he might serve in the war in some capacity. "Italy has not gone to war for aggrandizement," he said, "but to gain certain territories back to their native country. It must be clearly known that the treaty between Austria and Italy was solely for defensive purposes. Italy wished to remain neutral, but she also wished to be on the side of progress, liberty and nationality as against absolute reaction on the other side." Signor Nathan took back with him twelve medals won at the exposition, among them a gold prize for fine arts. Four other members of the Italian commission to the exposition also sailed. They were Professor Ettore Ferrari, Bruno Ferrari, Giacomo Giobbe and Commander Marcello Placentini, who was accompanied by his wife.

ROOSEVELT LAUDS STEEL EDITORIAL

C. W. McClure Predicts That John Parker Will Be Running Mate if Former President Makes Race.

On his way home after a trip to Louisiana, former President Theodore Roosevelt was greeted at the terminal station yesterday by a group of his supporters, who are members of the progressive party. Mr. Roosevelt was in Atlanta twenty minutes before his train left for the east.

To members of the delegation he took occasion to commend in the highest terms the editorial in The Constitution on June 8, on "The Steel Decision," in which the former president was defended for his stand in the matter, which involved the United States Steel corporation under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Commends Editorial.

"I read The Constitution with sincere interest and approval and I find its editorials clear, conservative, conscientious and highly illuminating," said Mr. Roosevelt. "I was attacked for assenting to the merger with the steel corporation of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, operating in Tennessee and Alabama, and the United States district court, its judges voting unanimously, have finally issued a decree confirming my position.

"The Constitution recognized the benefits to the south of this merger and was quick to defend my position. The court action puts the Alabama iron industry on a par with Pittsburg and iron and steel products manufactured in the south will now be able to compete with those of Pennsylvania."

Honors for Parker.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had a most enjoyable visit with John M. Parker, of Louisiana, national committeeman of the progressive party, whose guest he was in Louisiana. Returning Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt visited Pass Christian, Miss., and visited, at Biloxi, the "white house," where President Wilson and family spent the summer of 1913.

C. W. McClure, leader of the progressives in Georgia, and who headed the delegation that met the national leader Sunday, predicted after the conference with Mr. Roosevelt that Mr. Parker, of New Orleans, would be Roosevelt's running mate at the next national election.

With Mr. Parker as candidate for vice president on the progressive ticket, the progressives believe Louisiana can easily be placed in their column, since Mr. Parker is one of the best known men of that state, and Louisiana sugar interests have turned against the democratic party on account of the tariff bill.

In regard to national politics, Mr. Roosevelt made it plain to friends that the resignation of the secretary of state, in his opinion, has seriously complicated matters for the democratic party, and he predicted that, with the republican party out of power, the progressive chances loom brighter.

Mr. Roosevelt compared Bryan to a preacher, and said he had often thought he would have made a good running mate to the late Rev. Sam Jones, the Georgia evangelist.

JINGOISM ATTACKED BY GERMAN-AMERICANS

Cleveland, June 13.—The German-American alliance here today adopted a resolution of protest against jingoism and petitioning the administration at Washington "to maintain a strict neutrality to the end that the benefits of established peace may be secured to our nation and the domestic tranquillity of our cosmopolitan people be assured."

LITTLE GIRLS DRUGGED BY STRANGE YOUNG MEN

Tell Parents They Were Given Something to Smell at a Drug Store.

Maggie Nix, age 11, and May Blackwell, age 11, of 60-A Wyman street, in the Fulton Bag and Cotton mill district, lie in a stupor at the Grady hospital, where they were carried at an early hour this morning after they had staggered into their home in what is believed to be a "drugged condition," after a vain search by their parents and the police all Sunday afternoon and night.

That two young white men, dressed in palm beach suits and wearing straw hats, had given them something to smell at a drug store near their homes early Sunday afternoon was the story told by both little girls.

The little girls said they did not remember anything after they had smelled the "white balls" until awakening in a vacant house about 10 o'clock last night, when they saw looking down at them an old woman.

"When we awoke," said Maggie to Police Officers Lon Evans and Looney Milam, "the old woman drove us from the house, fussing at us."

The factory settlement is intensely aroused over the reports of the drugging of the 11-year-old girls. Grady Internes announced this morning that the girls would recover.

12 KILLED AND 30 HURT AS RESULT OF STORM

Several of the Injured in Serious Condition—Several States Swept.

La Crosse, Wis., June 13.—Twelve persons are reported dead in a storm which swept over western Wisconsin and parts of Minnesota and Iowa last night. Seven lost their lives near Ferryville, Wis., and five near Lansing, Iowa.

An eight-mile strip near Ferryville and Seneca was swept clear and every farm house was wrecked or damaged.

Besides the twelve killed thirty were injured, several of whom are in hospitals in La Crosse, Wis., in a serious condition.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 13.—A torrential rainstorm which swept over western Pennsylvania today caused heavy property damage and at least two deaths. At Woodlawn and Alequippa the damage is estimated at $100,000. In the main thoroughfares of Woodlawn there was three feet of water. Several dwellings collapsed from weakened foundations.

J. V. Richards, of Kittanning, a farmer, was killed by lightning, and T. J. McKenna was electrocuted as he turned off a switch at McPherson.

St Louis, June 13.—A storm that swept over St. Louis and the vicinity today caused damage estimated at more than $100,000. For two hours all traffic was stopped and telephone and lighting services were demoralized.

Indianapolis, June 13.—A severe wind storm did $100,000 damage and put many street car lines out of commission as well as the electric power and the telephone companies in a large section of Indianapolis.

Columbus, Ohio, June 13.—A storm caused the deaths of two persons and did heavy property damage in Ohio today. August Tohme was electrocuted by a live wire at Lockland, and William Sparrowgrove was killed by lightning near Zanesville.

Reports from all sections of the state told of damage to buildings. Barns were destroyed, trees uprooted, signs blown down and telegraph and telephone poles snapped off.

TRACTION STRIKE CALLED AT CHICAGO

14,500 Employees of Surface and Elevated Lines Ordered Out—Police Arranging to Keep Order.

Chicago, June 13.—A strike of the 14,500 employees of the surface and elevated traction systems was ordered at midnight.

The strike was called after an all-day conference of transportation officials, labor leaders and Mayor Thompson had shown the two interests at odds on the question of increased wages, which the men insisted must be guaranteed before arbitration could be considered.

Car Barns Guarded.

The police immediately began arrangements for protecting workmen who were ready to take cars out Tuesday morning.

All police furloughs were recalled, and all available men held at police stations ready for emergency duty.

A detail of 500 policemen was dispatched to guard the car barns.

Officials of the steam roads announced they would begin an immediate suburban service.

Leonard M. Busby, president of the Chicago surface lines, announced no attempt would be made to run the cars until Tuesday. Under the 1907 ordinance, the surface lines are not required, to operate in a strike. The strike extends to Hammond, East Chicago, and Whiting, Ind., South Chicago and Kankakee, Ills., over the Chicago and Interurban Traction company lines.

The Aurora, Elgin and Chicago Electric line will not be affected unless it carries passengers within the city. The Evanston and West Town railway lines in Cook county, outside of Chicago, will not be involved.

Wage Increase Demanded.

The union men announced at the beginning of the negotiations that they would accept no offer that did not provide a substantial wage increase. The traction companies at first were as firm in declaring that no wage increase could be granted. They later offered to arbitrate.

June 10 the men announced they would strike within 48 hours unless they received what they termed "a fair offer." This action followed an offer of a wage increase which did not satisfy the men. When the strike appeared inevitable, Mayor Thompson persuaded W. D. Mahon, international president of the street car men's association, to obtain another day's delay.

President Mahon came here from Detroit Saturday, and since then has been in almost continuous conference with the mayor. The first conference resulted in an offer of arbitration by the company, but the men replied they could not accept any offer that did not guarantee a wage increase.

No Agreement Reached.

The company replied with a counter offer, but after an all-day conference could not reach an agreement with the men.

Records of the transportation companies show an average of 3,000,000 persons depending on the lines for daily transportation. The surface lines operate 3,125 cars daily, and the elevated lines, 1,518.

There are 1,095 miles of surface track, and 215 miles of elevated.

Men Injured on Destroyer.

Washington, June 13.—Three men of the crew of the torpedo boat destroyer Bailey were seriously injured early today by the blowing out of a boiler tube, while the Bailey was passing down Chesapeake bay from Annapolis on her way to the New England coast. The injured men were placed aboard the battleship Missouri and the Bailey proceeded on her way.

TEUTONIC ALLIES ARE ASSAULTING RUSSIAN FORCES ON ENTIRE FRONT

Along the Dniester River and in the Baltic Provinces the Fighting Seems to Be Especially Heavy.

ANOTHER DRIVE MADE BY AUSTRO-GERMANS TO CAPTURE LEMBERG

Teutonic Allies Claim to Be Making Gains, But the Russians Report Attacks Repulsed With Heavy Losses—Hard Fighting Continues on West Front With the French Claiming Gains.

London, June 13.—In the Baltic provinces and along the Dneister river heavy fighting continues between the Russians and Austrians and Germans. The movement, forward and backward, of the battle lines in the Baltic provinces is almost continual, and each side has at various times held the advantage.

In Galicia, the scene of the fighting has changed. The Germans, balked in their effort to reach Lemberg from the south, have attacked the Russians on the River San, north of Przemysl, and along the Dneister in southeastern Galicia, and in their report tonight claim successes in both sectors.

The movement in the southeast resembles that which failed further up the Dneister, at Zurawna, but is on a wider scale. The right wing of the Austro-German force is only twenty miles from the Rumanian frontier, while its left wing reaches as far as Halicz, where many attacks have been delivered against a bridge head. The center of the operations in Kolomea, from which point the main attacks, which have carried the Teutonic allies across the Dneister in several places, are being launched.

Simultaneously the Germans are proceeding with their attack on the Russian center on the River Rawka, west of Warsaw, where they also have been successful, according to their report.

HARD FIGHTING IN WESTERN ZONE.

In the western zone, artillery engagements are in progress from the sea to the Woevre, and even beyond that district, with here and there infantry fighting. The French have attempted to force the Germans at some points out of their strongly entrenched positions, and the Germans have been endeavoring to recover lost ground.

The French continue their offensive, particularly in the neighborhood of Arras. They report the capture of a ridge at Souchez, north of the sugar refinery held by the French.

Near Hebuterne a series of German trenches were captured by the French, according to their report, although the German war office merely refers to the fact that infantry engagements are being fought there.

A big German offensive was predicted several days ago, but so far it has not materialized, although it is still expected.

SUCCESS CLAIMED BY RUSSIANS.

Petrograd, June 13.—(Via London.)—In a battle on the Dneister river, in the region of Zurawna, Galicia, which lasted from June 8 to June 10, the Russians captured 348 officers and 15,431 soldiers, with 78 machine guns and 17 cannon, according to a Russian official statement issued under date of June 12. On June 11, the statement adds, the Austro-German forces crossed the Dneister at several points. The communication says:

"To the north of Shavli, in the district of Szakimonvox, we yesterday attacked and repulsed in a western direction the enemy outflanking column. Near Shavli the enemy continues his fruitless attacks in the sector of the northern battlefield.

"Our offensive on the front of Szaliany-Beisagola continued to develop with success. Yesterday we carried by storm several villages and a cemetery near Bourgade-Jouquiny. The day before on this front our Cossacks charged the enemy on horseback and sabered about 100 Germans and took more than fifty prisoners.

"In the direction of Kovno the enemy is endeavoring to advance on a front of Sapoziska-Hudele. On Thursday night in this district we pushed back the enemy for some distance on the Mariampol road and along the railway from Kovno to Wirballen (Russian Poland).

"On the right bank of the Vistula, in the region of Starozeby, the enemy opened an intense artillery fire at dawn yesterday as a preliminary to a series of attacks. Up to midday he did not succeed in approaching nearer than 400 paces from our trenches. Our air squadron dropped bombs with success, this constributing materially to repulse the enemy's attacks on this front.

"In Galicia: Yesterday in the valley of the River Sklo an enemy motor battery advanced toward our trenches,

Weather Prophecy

FAIR.

Washington, June 13.—Forecast:

Georgia—Fair Monday and Tuesday.

Virginia—Fair Monday, preceded by showers in early morning and cooler. Tuesday fair.

North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky—Fair Monday and Tuesday.

Florida—Fair Monday, except showers northwest. Tuesday fair.

Alabama and Mississippi—Local thunderstorms Monday and Tuesday.

but was forced to beat an immediate retreat by our artillery fire.

"In a three days' battle on the Dneister river, in the region of Zurawna, which lasted from June 8 to June 10, we captured altogether 348 officers and 15,431 soldiers, with 78 machine guns and 17 cannon. A large quantity of arms, ammunition wagons, field kitchens and transports also fell into our hands.

"In order to support the Austro-German army which fell back on the right bank of the River Dneister the enemy undertook an offensive on both banks of the River Tyamenica, and on June 10 succeeded in carrying the village of Gruszow, but immediately was driven back by our troops, who captured 33 officers and 490 men.

"On the night of June 10 and on the morning of June 11 the enemy delivered fruitless attacks against our bridgehead near Halicz.

"In the course of the following day the enemy approached the front of Nezwiska-Galeszoki and began to cross the Dniester at several points."

Petrograd, June 13.—(Via London, June 14, 2:08 a. m.)—The following official communication was issued this evening:

"On Saturday violent battles continued on the whole of the front of the Rivers Vindava, Venta and Dubuysa. The German efforts were devoted to the sector north of Shavli.

"In the trans-Niemen region the enemy on Saturday commenced to attack our positions east of Mariampol. On the Narew front Saturday night there were outpost skirmishes between Ormulew and Rozova. North of Przasnysz the enemy at 3 o'clock in the morning opened a lively fire with heavy artillery and toward noon began a violent infantry attack.

"Further east on the Mlawa railway two of the enemy's battalions attacked the Pomianyi farm, but, having suffered enormous losses, were compelled to abandon their offensive.

"Near the Vistula, in the Starouvzeba region, the enemy, having suffered severe losses in his offensive of Friday, fell back Saturday night to his former position.

"On the left bank of the Vistula Saturday evening the enemy concentrated a very heavy fire in the Bzura sector, from the mouth of the Piss river to the village of Soukha. During the night and today he attacked our positions with forces numbering about two divisions. The battle still continues.

"In Galicia Saturday morning the enemy commenced an attack on our position on the lower Loubaczowka with massed formation. In the Mariciska region the enemy, who suffered heavy losses Friday and Saturday, has not resumed his offensive.

"Our success at Juravno forced the enemy to suspend his attacks on our positions at Halicz and on Friday the enemy there confined his efforts to concentrating the fire with his heavy guns upon them.

"Friday evening our cavalry made a fiery charge against enemy detachments, who had crossed the Dniester near the town of Zale Szczyky. In this charge we took about 200 prisoners and sabred 200 of the enemy."

GERMANS DRIVEN BY THE FRENCH.

Paris, June 13.—Tonight's war office communication says:

"In the sector to the north of Arras there has been a violent artillery engagement. In the afternoon we attacked the ridge north of the sugar refinery at Souchez, which was powerfully organized by the enemy. This ridge was taken by assault and we have organized and maintained ourselves there notwithstanding an intense bombardment.

"We attacked this morning to the southeast of Hebuterne the German trenches neighboring on the road from Zerre to Milly-Maillet. Our infantry carried by a single effort three of the enemy's lines and attained their object. They took more than a hundred prisoners belonging to four different regiments, including the 170th.

"Prisoners declare that during the course of the fighting the last few days we have inflicted on the German troops heavy losses. Certain units engaged in a counter attack were destroyed as soon as they formed.

"The enemy today attempted a counter attack which we immediately checked. Our artillery caused at Puisieulx (near Rheims) a heavy explosion. This was followed by a fire and a panic which we accentuated by our fire.

"The Germans attempted to retake the trenches captured by us south of the Quenneviers farm, east of Tracy-Le-Monte, but they were completely repulsed, and in following them up we made progress.

"Soissons at the same time was bombarded, 120 shells being thrown into the town. On the rest of the front there is nothing to report.

"Captain Gusmann, commander of the tenth battalion of the 120th regiment of German infantry, who was made a prisoner, said to one of the French officers:

"'You have without doubt sent against us troops of the highest quality. I had proceeded to a trench of the first line held by my battalion at the commencement of the attack. Never have I seen soldiers deliver an assault with such bravery and spirit.'"

Capture from the Germans of the railway station leading into the town of Souchez, eight miles from Arras, is announced in the afternoon French official statement. Cannonading was continuous during the night in the district north of Arras, the statement says, and stubborn fighting with hand grenades took place in the region called "The Labyrinth." The statement says:

"During the entire night the bombardment north of Arras was continuous. We have taken the station of the railway leading into Souchez.

"In the region south of 'The Labyrinth' stubborn fighting is in progress, the combatants having resorted to the throwing of hand grenades. In spite of the desperate efforts of the enemy, we have maintained all our gains made on the preceding days.

"On the rest of the front the night was calm."

GAINS CLAIMED BY GERMANS.

Berlin, June 13.—(Via London.)—German artillery yesterday bombarded the military works of Luneville, a French town 15 miles southeast of Nancy, according to today's German official statement.

German troops, the statement adds, stormed the town of Kuzie, eight miles west of Shavli, in Kovno province; took more than 5,000 Russian prisoners at Sieniawa, in Galicia, and also captured the town of Mlyniska. The statement reads:

"West:

"Artillery duels took place at Nieuport and Dixmueden, north of Arras, and at Hebuterne. Attempts of the enemy to make a night attack in the dunes were repulsed. Southeast of Hebuterne infantry engagements are being fought.

"The military works around Luneville were bombarded.

"East:

"Our attack northwest of Shavli made good progress. Kuzie was taken by storm. Enemy counter attacks failed. Eight officers and 305 men and eight machine guns were captured.

"Southeast of the Mariampol-Kovno road battles against Russian reinforcements arriving from the south have commenced.

"North of Przasnysz another 150 prisoners were taken.

"Our invasion into the enemy lines south of Bolimow was followed in the night by unsuccessful Russian counter attacks. The gained positions are firmly in our hands. Our booty in this sector has been increased to 1,650 prisoners, eight canon (two of which are of heavy caliber) and nine machine guns.

"Southeast:

"A bridgehead at Sieniawa was recaptured yesterday. Our opponents left more than 5,000 prisoners in our hands. Counter attacks made by the enemy during the night failed.

"East of Jarsolu and east of Przemysl the fighting is becoming more noticeable. Troops under General Linsingen have taken Mlyniska. The attack on Zydacow continues."

PROGRESS CLAIMED BY THE AUSTRIANS.

Vienna, June 13.—(Via London.)—The following official communication was issued today:

"In southeastern Galicia the troops of General Pflanzer's army are successfully progressing. After stubborn fighting yesterday they captured Tysmenica Tlumacz and the heights north of Olesza. South of Czernelisa the battle is continuing.

"New Russian attacks against Zale Szczyky have been bloodily repulsed. Proceeding from Bukowina and crossing the frontier our troops drove the Russians from a strong position along the frontier. During the pursuit we occupied several Bessarabian places. Yesterday 1,560 prisoners fell into our hands.

"On the Upper Dniester the allied troops are attacking successfully in the direction of Zydaczow, where there are still strong Russian forces.

"In Mid-Galicia the attack of the Austro-German troops led to the occupation of Sienlawa and, after the repulse of a strong hostile attack to the storming of all vantage points north of the town, we captured 3,500 Russians. Otherwise the situation is unchanged."

GERMAN GUNS SHELL OSSOWETZ.

Petrograd, June 13.—(Via London, June 14, 12:20 a. m.)—According to an official statement today the Germans during the last few days have begun a bombardment of Ossowetz fortress at 5 o'clock every evening when the light was favorable, and continued the bombardment until sunset.

"The fortress," the statement adds, "has not been seriously damaged, despite the heavy guns employed by the enemy."

BOMBARDMENT ON BELGIAN FRONT.

Havre, June 14.—(12:20 a. m.)—The Belgian official communication issued Sunday says:

"On the 12th there was an intermittent bombardment on our front, notably at the farms of Nolvenest, Roedesterk and Berkelkof, as well as at Ramscapelle, Pervyse, Stuyvekenskerke and trenches north of Dixmude and east of St. Jacques Capelle."

PILLAGERS IN CONTROL OF THE CITY OF TRIEST

Udine, Italy, June 13.—(Via Paris.)—News from Triest says that the entire Austrian town is in the hands of pillagers. Meat is selling for $1 a pound. There is no bread, and the population is living on vegetables and fruit from Istria.

ITALIANS PUSHING STRONG OFFENSIVE

London, June 13.—In the three weeks that have elapsed since the declaration of war by Italy on Austria, the Italian forces have been making slow but steady progress. Their efforts now are being directed mainly at Triest, with the peninsula of Istria, in which lies Pola, Austria's chief naval station, as their great objective.

The Italians already have occupied important strategic points along the Isonzo river, which they have crossed, and for several days a big battle has been in progress.

From the Italian side it is reported that Plava has been occupied, but this is denied by the Austrians. Pola has been visited by an Italian airship and, according to unofficial reports, the arsenal has been almost destroyed by bombs.

The Austrians are said to have brought 45,000 troops and sixty-four batteries to aid their defenses guarding Gorizia, Triest and other important towns. The fortifications defending Gorizia have been bombarded and communications between Gorizia and the rest of the empire have been cut, with the exception of a mountain road.

It is expected that the Italian movement will necessitate the bringing of heavy Austrian or German forces from other battle fronts.

GORZ INVESTED BY ITALIANS.

Udine, Italy, June 13.—(Via Paris.)—Italian artillery today bombarded the fortifications of Santa Maria, San Pietro, San Marco, San Lucia and other positions defending Gorz, the capital of the crown land of Gorz and Gradisca, 22 miles northwest of Triest and ten miles east of the Italian frontier.

The railway lines running north and south of the city have been interrupted and the only communication remaining between Gorz and the rest of the Austrian empire is by a long and difficult mountain road along the Chiapo valley.

Documents found on Austrian officers taken prisoner indicate that it was the plan of the Austrian general staff to prevent the Italians crossing the Isonzo river between Tolmino and Gorz. The capture of Plava by Italian troops, however, upset the Austrian plans for maintaining an insurmountable barrier in that part of the front through the co-operation of the towns of Tolmino and Gradisca.

SERIOUS BATTLE IN PROGRESS.

Vienna, June 13.—(Via London.)—The Auustrian war office has issued the following in regard to the Italian campaign:

"On the Isonzo river a serious battle has been in progress the last two days, especially near Plava.

"An attempt of a brigade on the 11th to occupy the eastern bank ended in the retreat of the enemy. Early yesterday the Italians again crossed the river.

"After a heavy battle our troops repulsed them. Reinforced the enemy succeeded in maintaining their position before which more than 400 dead Italians are lying.

ARSENAL WRECKED BY ITALIAN BOMBS.

Rome, June 13.—(Via Paris.)—The arsenal at the Austro-Hungarian naval station of Pola has been almost entirely destroyed by bombs dropped from an Italian airship, according to The Messaggero. There were at the time in the arsenal ten warships, including one battleship, two cruisers and several submarines. Some of these vessels are supposed to have been damaged.

DEFILES AND SUMMITS OCCUPIED BY ITALIANS.

Rome, June 13.—(Via Paris.)—An official note which sums up the army's first offensive movement says:

"In the Trentino zone our forces went resolutely forward, correcting at least in part strategical inconveniences of unfavorable frontier such as were imposed upon us after the campaign of 1866.

"Our brave mounted troops have occupied defiles and summits, the names of which recall unforgettable exploits by the brave combatants in Trentino half a century ago. A powerful artillery crowns the summits and plateaus from where operations more vast can be carried out later. It is battering effectively forts of the enemy considered up to the present time almost impregnable and already has demolished some of them.

"On the upper Cadore recollections of Fortunato Calviare were evoked by the occupation of Cortina and other important points. Thus not only are closed all routes for invasion by the enemy, but gradually there is being opened the way for an offensive action as soon as this is regarded opportune.

"In the Carnia zone our Alpine troops are solidly established on important defiles holding them against repeated counter attacks by the enemy.

"In the eastern Friuli zone our advance forces are developing greater contact with the enemy, progressively overcoming obstacles not to be despised."

The note adds that from results obtained the excellence of the army must not give rise to optimistic errors of appreciation concerning the present war, which is severe and difficult. Especially, the note says, it must not be forgotten that the ground of operations is mountainous and prepared by the enemy for defense for a long time and defended by numerous troops hardened by ten months' fighting. In conclusion the note declares that the army has decided to overcome at any price all obstacles, resistance and difficulties.

STRONG POSITION TAKEN BY ITALIANS.

Verona, Italy, June 13.—(Via Paris.) Details of the capture by Italians of Monte Zugna, four miles northeast of Ala, reached here today.

The position was strongly fortified and surrounded by strong wire entanglements and three lines of trenches. A platform had been built for cannon. The position comprised also two large barracks reported to have cost $800,000.

An Italian reconnaissance platoon, seeing the fortifications were undermined, employed several detachments, pretending to be a battalion instead of a contingent of less than 100 men. The Austrian garrison surrendered and the mountain was occupied without a single Italian casualty.

TROOPS FIGHT ON MOUNTAIN.

Geneva, Switzerland, June 13.—(Via Paris.)—The Austrians are reported to have brought up 45,000 troops and 64 batteries along the Isonzo river in the last few days.

Severe fighting is reported by the Austrians on Monte Paralba, which rises to a height of 8,000 feet. Alpinists of both the Austrian and Italian forces struggled fiercely and some fell over the precipices during the engagement.

MOUNTED ITALIANS ARRIVE FROM FRONT.

Brescia, Italy, June 13.—(Via Paris.) The first train of wounded Italians from the Trentino front arrived here today. It had been transformed into a bower of flowers, each berth being literally covered with them.

The wounded soldiers said the flowers had been sent to them by their mothers and sweethearts.

AUSTRIAN AIRSHIP WRECKED BY STORM.

Geneva, Switzerland, June 13.—(Via Paris.)—An Austrian airship, while returning to Trent after reconnoitering along the Valtellina frontier, was caught in a storm and dashed against the rocks on the mountains in the Adamello group, according to news received at Buchs, Switzerland, today, from Innsbruck. The aircraft is reported to have been badly damaged.

BARKS ARE SENT DOWN BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Vessels Were Sunk Off Seaport of Wales—Crews Were Saved.

London, June 13.—The British bark Crown of India, of 2,056 tons gross, carrying a cargo of coal, and the Norwegian bark Belglade, of 655 tons gross, timber laden, were sunk by the German submarine U-35 today off Milford Haven, Wales. The crews were rescued and landed at Milford Haven.

The sailors of the Crown of India say the submarine fired several shots across the bark's bows and when the vessel slowed down the men were ordered to take to the boats. The submarine then shelled and sank the bark.

The Norwegian bark Belglade, close by, later met a similar fate.

The Crown of India was built at Leith in 1885 and was owned by the Crown of India Shipping company, Ltd., of Liverpool.

The Belglade was built at Glasgow in 1877. Her port of registry was Tonsberg, Norway.

Grimsby, England, June 13.—The crew of the British trawler Plymouth, sunk by gun fire from a German submarine, were landed here today. When the Plymouth's captain sighted the submarine he cut away his gear and attempted to escape, but the submarine was too fast for him.

STEAMER AND YACHT IN FATAL COLLISION

Two Killed and Three Injured When the Vanadis and Bunker Hill Crash.

New York, June 13.—Two persons were killed and three injured in a collision in a dense fog on Long Island Sound tonight between the Boston-bound steamer Bunker Hill, with 250 passengers on board, and the steam yacht Vanadis, owned by C. K. G. Billings, widely known horseman, which was heading for this city.

One of the killed was George H. Kendrick, of Boston, president of the Massachusetts Packing and Belting company. The other was John J. Brown, a traveling salesman of Boston, a passenger on the Bunker Hill, who was knocked overboard, picked up by the Vanadis, and died on board from his injuries.

The Bunker Hill, with a great hole torn in her side where she was hit by the yacht, got safely to her pier at a late hour.

The Vanadis, on board which were Mr. and Mrs. Billings and a guest, put into Glen Cove, L. I., with a badly smashed bow. Neither vessel was injured below the water line. It was at first reported that two of the passengers had jumped overboard during the excitement and had been picked up. Later it developed that only one man had dropped into the water—the passenger who died on board the Vanadis.

After the steamer had reached her pier there a number of passengers complained of what they termed the panicky condition of some members of the crew following the crash, while others declared they had noticed nothing of the sort. One passenger said that he saw certain members of the crew running about the deck for life preservers until told by Captain Holmes that there was no danger.

H. Leslie Wiencke, of Jersey City, declared that while women passengers were fainting he saw four employees on the boat running toward a lifeboat and putting on life preservers as they ran.

EIGHT ALLEGED SPIES EXECUTED BY GERMANS

Amsterdam, June 13.—(Via London.) A Berlin dispatch says:

"Since the beginning of the war Germany's enemies have employed a number of spies for collecting information. The German authorities recently discovered a conspiracy which has its headquarter at Maestricht.

"Seventeen spies were arrested in Belgium and it was proved that they had communicated information regarding the movement of troops on the Belgian railways. Court-martial condemned to death eleven of the accused, and six were sentenced to a total of seventy-seven years' penal servitude.

"On June 7 eight of the accused were executed. The three others asked for a pardon and a decision in their case is pending."

OIL TANKER PLATURIA SEIZED BY BRITAIN

London, June 14.—(2:43 a. m.)—The Standard Oil company's tanker Platuria, from New York May 25 for Oskarshamn, Sweden, again is in the hands of the British admiralty, having been seized and taken to Kirkwall, Scotland. The tanker carries oil for Scandinavian ports.

This is the third time the Platuria has been detained by the British. In October, 1914, while on her way from New York to Aarhuus with a cargo of oil she was seized and taken into Stornoway. The United States protested and the ship was released. On March 2, the Platuria, bound for Malmo, Sweden, was taken into Kirkwall and detained pending an investigation into the character of her cargo.

MONEY OF RED CROSS SEIZED BY GERMANY

Washington, June 13.—E. Havenith, the Belgian minister, has protested to the state department in the name of his government and the International Red Cross against Germany's seizure of Belgian Red Cross money and equipment within the German lines.

The protest says this was done when the Belgian Red Cross refused to give up its proper work and devote its attention to "aid and protection of women by employment" under orders from the German governor general of Belgium.

DR. KIRBY-SMITH BACK FROM SERBIA

Boston, June 13.—The White Star liner Canopic arrived today from Italy. To guard against a possible attack by hostile war craft, the Canopic was kept in darkness during the nights that she was in the Mediterranean.

Hr. R. M. Kirby-Smith, of Sewanee, Tenn., recently in charge of Red Cross relief work at Belgrade, Serbia, was a passenger. Dr. Kirby-Smith said that the typhus epidemic was virtually under control, but that it had cost the lives of two American physicians and several nurses.

ALLIES ATTACKING AT DARDANELLES

Warships Support the Land Forces—The Turks Still Hold Commanding Heights on the Peninsula.

London, June 14.—(2:58 a. m.)—The Daily Mail's Athens correspondent says that the allies Friday and Saturday attacked the Turkish positions on the Gallipoli peninsula. They were supported by warships, but the Turks still hold the heights of Achi Baba and the heights commanding Kalid Bahr.

RUSSIANS DRIVE TURKISH FORCES.

Petrograd, June 13.—(Via London.) Official reports received here from army headquarters in the Caucasus say that the Russians are pushing the Turks back in the direction of Olti and are occupying Turkish positions. A heavy Turkish counter attack at Zinatchor was repulsed.

The dispatches say that during a successful engagement in the valley of Oltichai 200 Cossacks charged on horseback to the trenches, where they dismounted and put the Turks to the sword.

RUSSIAN WARSHIPS SHELL TURK PORT.

Petrograd, June 13.—(Via London.) Russian torpedo boats on the night of June 10 destroyed the buildings of the Turkish seaport of Samsun on the Black sea, according to an official Russian statement. Many Turkish boats, the announcement says, were sunk. The statement reads:

"On the night of June 10 our torpedo boats had an engagement with the ex-German cruiser Breslau and caused her some damage.

"At Samsun our torpedo boats destroyed the buildings of the port and sank many of the enemy's boats."

REGIMENT OF GERMANS DESTROYED BY FRENCH

Not a Man Escaped Death or Capture When Toutvent Farm Was Captured.

Paris, June 13.—When the French troops captured the important position of the farm of Toutvent, writes the official eye-witness on the French battle front, "they found remaining of the formidable fortifications only masses of debris. The accurate fire of our heavy artillery wrenched the wire entanglements from the ground, upheaved the trenches in some places, filled them in others and obstructed the approaches.

"The position was held by the One Hundred and Seventieth Baden regiment of 1,000 men," the writer continues, "not one of whom escaped death or capture. Two other companies of 200 men each, in reserve, were almost destroyed.

"The assault commenced on June 7 over a front of 1,200 yards, and on June 10 a double line of trenches over a front of 1,800 yards and for a depth of from 200 to 1,000 yards had been captured.

At 5 o'clock on the morning of June 7, in the face of a heavy fire from the enemy trenches, the assault began under a storm of shot and shell. Not a man of the Breton and Vendean troops flinched, and the whole line advanced as one individual over the first two lines of the German trenches.

"The orders were to intrench there, but the men in the joy of victory, pleaded to be allowed to go on, and it was with difficulty that the officers induced them to drop the rifle for the shovel. What remained of the enemy's troops were found huddled in the wrecked trenches. A few continued to fire, but the rest held up their hands.

"The fire of our artillery maintained a death curtain in the rear, preventing reinforcements coming up, and as soon as the position was lost the enemy's 4-inch and 8-inch guns swept the ground. Our men were overjoyed. They embraced each other, laughed at the enemy's fire and dug themselves in.

"The position is being solidly organized and steadily extended by the courageous persistence of our men, who are making the enemy feel the superiority of the French infantry."

CAUSE OF PREJUDICE AGAINST CATHOLICS

Chicago, June 13.—Two beliefs which are declared to have aroused prejudice against Catholics and the Catholic church, it was announced tonight, have been unearthed by investigators for the special commission appointed the year ago by the supreme council of the Knights of Columbus. These beliefs will be discussed by the commission when it meets here tomorrow for final consideration of its report to be made at the forthcoming session at Seattle.

The investigators reported that antagonism has been found because of the attitude which many persons believed the Catholics maintained toward the public schools. Another cause found was the general belief that Catholics owed civil allegiance to papal authority.

A statement made by the commission tonight denied that Catholics ever had attempted to control the schools and, discussing the charge of civil allegiance to papal authority, called attention to the variety of political beliefs held by individual Catholics.

Current Statistics.

(From The Louisville Courier-Journal.)

"Railroad experts estimate that it costs $1.60 to stop a train. We can see that it is a losing game to stop for a man who is going four miles down the line on a ticket that cost him 15 cents.

ZEPPELINS FAILED TO AROUSE LONDON

Comparatively Few Persons Knew of Raid on Night of May 31—Raid Not Spectacular and Little Damage Done.

London, June 1.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Four persons killed and nearly 70 treated at hospitals, some of whom probably will die, was the harvest of last night's Zeppelin raid on London. Police reports show that about 90 bombs were dropped. The number of air craft which took part in the expedition cannot be learned definitely. Some persons say they saw four, but most spectators saw only one.

The government has permitted foreign correspondents to cable and the newspapers to publish only brief official bulletins. The reason for secrecy is that admiralty officials doubt whether the Germans knew their exact position when they dropped their missiles, and definite information would help the next air squadron.

The raid fell short badly on the spectacular side. Reports of bombs and guns, occasional flashes and the whirr of propellers caused some excitement in a certain section of London, but the inhabitants of the rest of its 699 square miles came home from the theaters and picture shows and slept undisturbed, to learn nothing of the fulfillment of the long expected raid until they opened their morning papers.

Near the Bank of England.

While the German wireless report says that bombs were dropped on the docks, the fact is that none came within a half mile of the water front. One air raider was within a mile of the Bank of England and less than three miles from Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey and the parliament houses and other government buildings.

Their course must have brought the Zeppelins within two or three miles of Woolwich Arsenal, and of the famous old naval observatory and school at Greenwich.

The swelling of rumor during the day before the official bulletin issued at 5 o'clock stated the number of killed, demonstrated the value of newspapers. As the story of the raid passed from man to man it grew amazingly. Several hundred had been killed, churches destroyed, a theater audience massacred and hundreds of fires started.

Papers Were Muzzled.

The facts were in the newspaper offices and columns of proofs with many photographs were sent to the censor's bureau, but the papers were muzzled.

Even now the average inhabitant of England knows no more about the affair than is known in America. There were not more than a dozen fires, one bomb struck the outside of a theater and another chipped a church spire.

The German air raiders dropped five bombs on Leigh-on-Sea, two miles from Southend, but did little damage. They were next reported over Brentwood and then over North London. Stratford, well within the metropolis, came next, but little property damage was done here.

The raiders then reached Dalston Junction, a railway junction with a heavy night traffic of freight trains which necessitates many signal lights. Instead of striking the railway lines most of the bombs fell in a marsh.

Swinging more to the east, the raiders scattered bombs over Shoreditch, on the edge of London, and it was here they accomplished the greatest loss to life and property, setting fire to several private residences and shops and killing four persons and injuring many others.

Bomb On Music Hall.

An incendiary bomb bounced from the roof of the Shoreditch Empire Music hall, leaving the place virtually unscathed, but causing a panic in the theater audience. A small house standing near the theater was burned apparently by this bomb. The most important structure hit in this neighborhood was the ancient Whitechapel church, the spire of which was slightly cracked by a bomb.

Through Hoxton the zig-zag course of the Zeppelins could be traced by a series of fires. Along Commercial road many business houses suffered. One of the luckiest escapes was that of a big whiskey distillery in this neighborhood. With its great vats of spirits and its storerooms filled with case goods, it might have proved an easy victim for an incendiary bomb, but the lone bomb which struck the place went through a galvanized iron roof into a deep tank filled with water.

Most of the bombs used in this neighborhood were of the incendiary type and a few which did not explode have been recovered. These are filled with tarred hemp soaked in coal oil. But evidence has been found showing that some of the shrapnel bombs of the type carried by aeroplanes were used.

Bombs Dropped on Freight Station.

Three incendiary bombs dropped into the big freight station of the Great Eastern railway at Bishopsgate. They came through the glass roof without shattering the glass, but cutting holes as smooth as though made with a glass cutter. Two of them started small fires which were extinguished. The third was thrown into a pail of water before it had done any damage and was taken to the police station as an exhibit.

The inhabitants of the slum regions where the bombs fell were in an ugly mood and many Germans had to be rushed to the police stations for protection. Two shops owned by Russian Jews were attacked by the crowd in the belief that the owners were Germans.

This morning the only sign of a pursuit of the raiders was found in the mud flats off Leigh-on-Sea, where an English aeroplane was stuck fast in the mud after being compelled to descend on account of engine troubles.

DR. HIBBEN SEES TEST FOR CHRISTIANITY

Princeton, N. J., June 13.—President John Grier Hibben today delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the Princeton graduating class. His subject was "Martial Valor in Times of Peace," and he made frequent allusions to the European struggle.

"There are some," said President Hibben, "who, all too readily discouraged, complain bitterly that the present European tragedy proves Christianity a failure. On the contrary, I believe that Christianity is approaching its supreme test. It rests with the coming generation to restore to the law and love of Christ its ancient power."

Peace in itself is not a blessing, Dr. Hibben said. "Peace," he added, "is a situation, an external setting, the guarantee of a free exercise of all our powers, without fear of the menace or intrusion of a foreign foe to challenge or control that freedom."

VENIZELOS IS LEADING IN THE GREEK ELECTIONS

Former Premier's Adherents Showing Strength in Athens and Piraeus.

London, June 13.—A Reuter dispatch from Athens says:

"General elections began early today in all parts of the kingdom, except some districts in Macedonia and Crete where the electoral officials failed to arrive in time.

"The elections are passing off quietly in Athens and Piraeus where the adherents of ex-Premier Eleutherios Venizelos seem to be in the lead."

WAY SMOOTHED FOR THE KAISER

To Meet American Demands Without Embarrassment—Washington Is Very Hopeful of an Amicable Settlement.

Washington, June 13.—Comment by the European press on the recent American note to Germany attracted much attention in official and diplomatic quarters today. In the absence of information concerning Germany's probable attitude it was the chief subject for speculation.

Officials drew much encouragement from references in the editorials to the friendly tone of the American note. Many have felt that if a spirit of friendliness could be maintained throughout the negotiations, the efforts of the United States to convince Germany of the legality of the American position ultimately would be successful.

The careful phrasing of the last American note is known to have had the purpose of stating the demands of the United States earnestly, but in such a fashion as would not make it embarrassing for Germany to meet the American position.

The Important Thing.

The important thing which officials thought they gleaned from the press comment and other utterances was the fact that the German government was no more desirous of adding the United States to its list of enemies than the United States was of participating in the European conflict. With a growing understanding in Germany that the United States is anxious for peace, but will insist on its rights and the conviction here that the German government will not misconstrue the American demands into any effort to interfere with the operations of submarine warfare if these can be made to conform to accepted rules of international law as they affect neutrals, the chances for a peaceful outcome of the present difficulty were believed in well informed quarters to be improving daily.

An abatement of submarine warfare on passenger ships would contribute materially toward a peaceful settlement, and some officials professed to see already signs of restriction of the activity of German submarines to craft of such size as to make it readily possible to save the crews.

No Comment on Bryan.

Former Secretary Bryan had gone today to Old Point Comfort, Va., and little comment on his statement of yesterday was obtainable in official quarters. It was noted, however, that although Mr. Bryan referred to the softening of the note after his resignation, he said he did not consider that the document had been sufficiently changed to cause him to withdraw his resignation. While the white house and state department are not making any comment on Mr. Bryan's utterances, persons close to the president who were in a position to know the details concerning the shaping of the last American note to Germany pointed out that not only was the note shown to Mr. Bryan in its final form, but that the president himself had expressed a hope at his farewell meeting with Mr. Bryan an hour before the note was cabled that some way could be found to make unnecessary the secretary's resignation, especially because of the possible misconstruction in Germany of the change at this time.

GERMAN EDITORS ON AMERICAN NOTE

issues involved. If, therefore, Bryan desires to be the representative of peaceful efforts in opposition to the jingoistic tendency of the American government we really do not know on what ground he will base his assertion."

The Boerzen Zeitung terms Mr. Bryan's proclamation to the people even harder to understand than his resignation.

The Tageblatt suspects that practical political differences played a part in the resignation of the secretary, saying: "It may safely be assumed that Bryan did not leave office in order to withdraw himself from political life."

The Reichsbote says: "Either the tone was subdued following Bryan's sensational resignation, or Bryan desired to take advantage of an opportunity to escape easily from a situation which no longer was pleasant."

The Deutsche Rundschau says: "After seeing the note it must be said that Mr. Bryan was hasty or else other reasons yet unknown decided his action."

PEACE POSSIBLE, SAYS THIS EDITOR.

Cologne, Germany, June 13.—(Via London.)—The Koelnische Zeitung thinks that Mr. Bryan's withdrawal from the American state department, what else it may mean, also shows that The Koelnische Zeitung's verdict concerning the Cunard liner Lusitania finds comprehension among Americans, and that these are not disposed to destroy the bridges connecting the two nations. The peace which Bryan preaches is also possible along the ways followed by President Wilson, the newspaper says, and then adds: "For this, however, it indeed is necessary that Americans respect also Germany's sacred rights."

LAURENS MAN WOULD SUCCEED BRITTAIN

Dublin, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Laurens county has furnished a candidate for the position of State School Superintendent Brittain if he should resign to accept the superintendency of Atlanta's schools. Z. Whitehurst, at present county school superintendent of Laurens county, has been in the race for a long time, making a quiet canvass for support among the influential friends of Governor-elect Harris, who, it is understood, will appoint some one to fill Brittain's unexpired term should he resign.

Mr. Whitehurst is a strong man for the position, with the interest of the common schools at heart, and large experience in educational work. He has some strong friends at work in his behalf and stands an excellent chance of winning the appointment.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.:—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

PEOPLE OF EUROPE TIRED OF THE WAR

That's the Opinion of Col. House, President Wilson's Friend, Who Has Returned From Visit to Belligerent Countries.

New York, June 13.—Admitting that he had talked with leading government officials of Germany, France and England, but denying that his trip to Europe in any way was connected with a possible peace mission, or that he was the personal emissary of President Wilson, Colonel Edward M. House arrived here today from Liverpool, a passenger on the American Line steamship St. Paul.

"I did not talk peace, and that was not my mission abroad," Colonel House declared. "That report was the biggest piece of nonsense that I have heard." He also said that he was not called home by President Wilson.

No Political Significance.

Colonel House said that since leaving New York on January 30, of this year, he had met and talked with leading officials of the European governments, but added that his visit was a personal one, as a private citizen, and that it had no political significance. He said that he went to Europe almost every year, and this trip had been no exception as to intent or purpose.

Asked if he had communicated with President Wilson during his absence on any matter of importance that had come to his notice, Mr. House said that such would be the duty of any American citizen, and that President Wilson was his personal friend.

Colonel House left the St. Paul on a coast guard cutter before the ship reached port and landed at a private dock, where he took a train for Roslyn, Long Island, going to the home of his son-in-law, Gordon Auchincloss. Mrs. House remained on the liner.

Talked With Asquith.

Colonel House said he left New York January 30 on the Lusitania, the trip on which Captain Dow flew the American flag while passing the German war zone. He added, however, that he did not see the American flag. He visited England for two weeks, he said, and while there talked with Premier Asquith, David Lloyd-George and Lord Kitchener.

From England he went to Paris, where he visited a week, and was received by President Poincare, Minister of Foreign Affairs De Cassex and others. In both of these countries, he said, he stopped at hotels.

From Paris, Colonel House said he went to Berlin, where he was a guest of Ambassador Gerard. In Germany he talked with Foreign Minister von Jagow, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, Under Secretary of State Zimmerman and others. He was in Berlin for a week, going thence to Switzerland and then back to London.

"In Berlin, as everywhere else I visited, I was treated nicely," said Colonel House. "My reason for talking with the men I did had nothing to do with peace. I know them all and always visit them." He added:

Length of War.

"How long is this war going to last?" he was asked.

"You know as well as I do, or as well as Sir Edward Grey or Ministers Delcasse or Von Jagow," was the reply.

"Does England want to see the United States in the war?" was another question put to him.

"Opinion is divided—some think it would not be an advantage to the cause of the allies," was the answer.

"Has the United States lost its standing as an influence for peace?"

"I don't know that it has ever undertaken the task," he said.

Colonel House said that he was in London when the Lusitania was sunk and when the first American note to Germany was made public. He declined to comment on these subjects. He said that in all countries he visited there was a strong spirit of confidence as to an outcome favorable to the side that the particular people favored, but that the people generally were tired of war.

Asked about supplies of foodstuffs, ammunition, etc., he said that he had seen nothing or heard nothing that he should not see or hear.

Resignation of Bryan.

The resignation of William Jennings Bryan as secretary of state was called to his attention. He said he heard of it on the St. Paul, but he would make no comment. As to Mr. Bryan's successor he said he had no idea. He was told that he had been mentioned as possible successor to the office. He replied:

"It has not been offered to me. I have never held public office or desired it."

Colonel House said he had not communicated with President Wilson since his return. He expected to go to Washington, but did not know when. It might be tomorrow, but that was uncertain. He added that he had not sounded neutral nations on the subject of peace or war.

HOUSE REPORTED TO WASHINGTON.

Washington, June 13.—All that officials ever have admitted concerning Colonel E. M. House's visit to Europe has been that he was expected while there to look into the question of co-ordinating American relief work abroad.

It is known, however, that Colonel House has made frequent confidential reports to the president on the sentiment abroad towards peace. These reports have told particularly of the results of interviews with European officials.

The president has relied on Colonel House more than upon any one man for correct information concerning official and popular opinion in the belligerent nations. Through the colonel he has kept in close touch with peace discussions, with the hope of urging his original offer of mediation at the proper time.

As Colonel House has been one of the president's chief advisers regarding appointments, it is believed that the president will discuss the question with him before naming a successor to Mr. Bryan as secretary of state.

BIG HIGHWAY RALLY IS ARRANGED BY ROME

Rome, Ga., June 13.—(Special)—Plans are being made by the Rome Chamber of Commerce for a great good roads rally to be held in Rome on Monday, July 5, which is a legal holiday. The date has been selected for a meeting of the executive committee charged with forming a permanent organization to work for the construction of the Birmingham to Rome highway. The members of this committee are the following from each county along the proposed route between Birmingham and Rome: Chairman, John O'Neill, president of the Alabama Good Roads association; from Floyd county, A. B. Arrington and A. N. Tumlin; from Cherokee county, Alabama, D. M. Williamson and Judge Joseph L. Savage; from Etowah county, Alabama, Earl Lay and Judge L. L. Herzberg; from St. Clair county, Alabama, Noah A. Hood and Judge J. L. Herring; from Jefferson county, Alabama, Hugh McGeever and J. A. Rountree.

"My farewell appearance was an occasion of the greatest enthusiasm," said a well-known prima donna to another. "Yes," replied the other, "Isn't it remarkable that such a large number of people should have seemed so delighted to hear you for the last time?"—Musical America.

WILSON BRAVED STORM TO HONOR CONFEDERATES

President in Driving Rain at the Arlington Memorial Day Exercises.

Washington, June 13.—When President Wilson drove through a violent wind and rainstorm today to attend Confederate Memorial day exercises at Arlington National cemetery, he found that the crowd assembled for the ceremonies had broken in a wild rush for electric cars and automobiles. The few people remaining had taken refuge under trees and in some small tents near the speakers' stand.

For half an hour the president's automobile stood in the driving rain. Mr. Wilson from time to time peered through the water-smeared windows of his car, much concerned over how the people outside were faring. A short distance away he spied two or three women huddled beneath a short thick tree, greeting him with frantically waving umbrellas. He beckoned in vain for them to come in to the car. They either were timid about visiting the president of the United States under such circumstances, or afraid of the wetting they would get between the tree and the car.

When the rain finally held up those in charge of the arrangements informed the president that the formal exercises had been abandoned. Flowers were placed on the graves in the confederate section of the cemetery, and a magnificent cross of flowers, presented by Washington camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans was unveiled by two young girls.

Hilary A. Herbert, former secretary of the navy, and Samuel J. Graham, assistant attorney general, were to have been the chief speakers of the occasion. The president was a guest of honor, but did not expect to speak.

ARMISTICE OFFERED TO CARRANZA FORCES

Members of the Convention Party Seek Peace--Carranza Threatens Mexico City.

Vera Cruz, June 13.—The Democrata, the Carranza organ here, today published an extra edition containing a dispatch from Puebla, which is in substance as follows:

"General Pablo Gonzales, who has been sent with the constitutionalist army to take Mexico City, has been visited by three members of the convention party from Mexico City with an offer of an armistice. The delegation suggested that the fighing in that vicinity cease as all the people were fighting with the same purpose.

"General Gonzales replied that the forces in Mexico City had better throw in their lot with General Carranza or evacuate the city without bloodshed. He gave the delegates 48 hours to return and present his proposition to the convention.

"Constitutionalist headquarters here believes the Mexico City forces are preparing to flee and turn over the city to General Carranza. General Gonzales is said to be preparing to feed 400,000 persons should Mexico City be taken within a few days.

"The people in the former capital are declared to be in great want."

NO HURRIED ACTION LIKELY BY WILSON.

Washington, June 13.—Although the United States government within the last two weeks has been absorbed in the German situation, the interim of a fortnight that will elapse before a reply comes from Berlin undoubtedly will draw attention again to Mexico.

General Carranza has issued a proclamation claiming that as he controls a large territory and has instituted civil administration therein, he is entitled to recognition. General Villa has sent a note to the United States favoring President Wilson's recent suggestion that the factions in Mexico unite for peace. He also has made overtures directly to Carranza.

Villa claims that he, too, is in possession of a large area of Mexico, and that law and order exist within his jurisdiction. No request is made for recognition of the convention government represented by Villa, but a willingness is expressed to reach an agreement with the other Mexican factions.

Until a new secretary of state is appointed, it is not thought there will be any development of the recently announced policy of President Wilson to insist on order in Mexico.

The military situation is likely to have an important influence during the coming week on the political side of Mexico's problem.

Official reports to the state department refute Carranza's sweeping claims of victory.

The most severe loss sustained by Carranza in recent fighting was in the wounding of General Obregon, whose right arm was shot away. Rumors were current tonight in Mexican quarters that Obregon had succumbed to his wound, but this was not confirmed.

General Benjamin Hill, who was in command of the Carranza forces at Naco, last year, now is in charge of the Carranza forces, succeeding Obregon. The Villa troops have been handicapped by a lack of ammunition, with which Hill is said to be well supplied.

C. J. O'Connor, Pacific coast director of the Red Cross, has been directed to proceed from San Francisco to Mexico City personally to direct Red Cross work there of relieving the starving population.

REV. R. R. DAGNALL DIES AT WILLIAMSTON HOME

Mrs. M. D. Eubanks yesterday received a telegram announcing the death Saturday night of her brother, Rev. R. R. Dagnall, of Williamston, S. C. Pneumonia was given as the cause of his death.

Mr. Dagnall was one of the best known ministers of South Carolina, having been a member of the South Carolina Methodist conference for fifty-two years. He was also well known in Georgia.

He is survived by his widow and four children; by two sisters, Mrs. M. D. Eubanks and Mrs. Charles G. Hartsfield, of Atlanta; by one brother, E. W. Dagnall, of Bartow county.

DEATH OF FAITHFUL DOG-GUIDE MOURNED BY BLIND MASTER

Joe Rodfield, a pedigreed English setter, holding the record of having led his blind master, G. W. Saville, from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, through 34 states in the union, and parts of Mexico and Canada, died in this city Friday afternoon. Ever constant and with the intelligence of a human being, the beautiful dog had served his master for 10 years, doing in his no small part, everything to make up for the loss of his best friend's sight.

Mr. Saville, who makes his expenses by traveling and selling pictures of his famous four-footed friend, is left in Atlanta, a stranger to the city, without a friend, and bereft of the best one he ever had. He buried Joe in a vacant lot on South Pryor street Saturday, after having engaged a carpenter to make him a coffin.

"The authorities would not take Joe in the cemetery here," sadly remarked Mr. Saville, when unfolding his tale to a Constitution reporter, "and I couldn't make them understand that Joe was more than human, had done more than most people would have done, and was deserving of more credit than any ordinary animal. He was all I had and I must get another dog, although none can ever do for me what he has done.

Mr. Saville claims Reading, Pa., as his home, and states that he took Joe when he was a pup, a little over ten years ago, and through persistent training, taught him his duties as a guide. Mr. Saville states that Joe was quick to learn what he was shown, and picked up valuable knowledge to the welfare of both, out of his own common sense.

M'ADOO TO CONTINUE PAN-AMERICAN WORK

Secretary Will Push Trade Movement Initiated at the Recent Conference.

Washington, June 13.—Plans for continuing the work initiated by the recent Pan-American financial conference looking to extension and closer relationship of trade and finance between all the American nations are suggested by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in a letter made public tonight and addressed to each of the South and Central American delegations which attended the conference. Chief among the secretary's recommendations are:

1. That annual sessions of the conference be held in Washington as the regular meeting place.

2. That the ministers of finance of the nations represented appoint at their earliest convenience members of the international high commission which was designated by the conference to consider uniform legislation affecting international business; that the ministers act as chairmen of their respective commissions and that the first general meeting of the commissions be held at Buenos Aires November 1, this year.

3. That the group committees appointed by the conference be established on a permanent basis, South and Central American delegation continuing to represent its country and to keep in touch with the group committee representing the United States with which it conferred during the conference. (All of the committees of the United States will continue to act until the 1916 conference unless relieved in the meantime.)

4. That as there is an imperative necessity for the prompt establishment of increased and improved steamship communication between the leading ports of South America and the United States, the various governments should suggest through their delegates what is necessary in the way of steamship service to promote trade and commerce.

Mr. McAdoo reminds the delegates of Postmaster General Burleson's request for co-operation in improving the postal facilities between the United States and the other American republics, and says there is now pending an offer by the United States government to enter into a convention for the exchange of money orders with each country of Central and South America with which such business is not at present transacted.

"It is the purpose of the postmaster general," the letter adds, "to renew in the near future the invitation to enter into money order exchange conventions with this country as early as practicable. The postmaster general is also examining the terms of the parcel post conventions in force between the United States and the several countries of Central and South America, with a view to removing all obstacles that it is practicable to remove in the way of restrictions embodied in such conventions which interfere with the freedom of transmission of parcels."

EQUALIZERS IN CLARKE FIND LITTLE MISSING

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The tax equalizers of Clarke county completed their work yesterday. In a canvass of over $13,000,000 in property returned this year they made an increase of only $150. Tax Receiver J. H. Dorsey had shown an increase of more than $300,000 this year over the aggregate returns of last year.

FALLS FROM TRESTLE AND DROWNS IN ETOWAH

Rome, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Bart Adams, a white man, aged 40 years, was drowned in the Etowah river when he fell from a trestle of the Central of Georgia railway. Adams is said to have been drinking heavily, and was in company with his nephew, William Hopkins, who was helping him across the trestle. He jerked away from his companion, and fell into the river and was drowned. A coroner's jury after investigating the matter brought in a verdict of accidental death.

UNGODLY CITIZENS SCORED IN SERMON AT FIRST BAPTIST

"Atlanta's burning question," said Dr. H. M. DuBose, in discussing this topic at the First Methodist church Sunday evening, "is what shall become of the unrighteous among our citizens."

After describing the sudden sinking of the Lusitania off the coast of Ireland, Dr. DuBose likened the moral condition of many people in every city of the world to that of the victims of this catastrophe.

"What will be done," he said, "with the people who walk the boulevards of the cities, who frequent their haunts of vice, now that these cities are verily torpedoed by sin?"

"Atlanta has various questions that vex her," he continued. There is the question of what shall be done with her vice question and her nefarious institutions of evil. She also has her questions concerning her public school system and the several departments of her city government. But all these do not burn as does that concerning her ungodly citizens. It is the burning question before us all. It is the churchman's question. It challenges us for an answer."

TRANSPORTATION CLUB PLANNING FOR BARBECUE

To promote the booster spirit among its members and to induce others to join, the Transportation club, of Atlanta, will hold a barbecue Saturday afternoon, June 19, at 2 o'clock, at Burns cottage. Announcements appraising the membership of the affair have been sent out, in which co-operation on the part of the members to make the event a success is solicited.

PAVING GRANT STREET TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

Contract for paving Grant street with wood block has been awarded to Jameson Hallowell and work will begin this week on one of the most important paving propositions of the year. The entire improvement will cost about $20,000.

The street railway company, which has double tracks on the street, will replace one of the lines with a new track, but has been given permission by the city to use "T" rails instead of grooved rails, as originally planned. The company has agreed to furnish bond to insure the satisfaction of "T" rails when used with wood block paving.

WHEN CLEANING UP IS NEEDED.

A few weeks ago Atlanta had a "Clean-up" week. Some good work was done in getting rid of unsightly rubbish and in brightening backyards. Up to that time we had not had any summer at all; since then the weather has been comparatively cool and moderately rainy, and with the work then done sanitation has pretty well taken care of itself.

But real summer is at last here; the hot weather is beginning to get in its activity. The flies which were largely killed out by an extreme cold winter, and held in check by a cool spring, are beginning to multiply rapidly. For quick breeding they need only filth and rubbish, and then the fly-deluge.

Yards around empty houses and unused buildings are already exhibiting signs of neglect. Trash is accumulating in plain view and the weeds are getting in some quick work. Unfortunately there are, too, some occupied homes against which similar criticism might be directed.

The time of all the year when real and substantial cleaning up is needed is upon us now. It is the time when we need not only temporary, but vigilant and continued activity in the work. The summer sun is not only an effective agency in the breeding of disease germs, but also of the agencies that spread them and communicate them to persons.

The most dangerous of these agencies is the housefly, denominated at times the typhoid fly, because of his undoubted proclivity in transporting this germ from filth to food. Cleaning, continued cleaning, and observance of the rules and requirements laid down by the city health board, will prove material factors not only in keeping down the number of flies, but also in preventing the spread of those diseases easily transmitted by them or other insects.

Spring cleaning is a good thing, but early summer cleaning, and persistence in it, is still better. The city beautiful is secondary only to the city healthful. With comparatively little effort Atlanta may easily be both.

GERMANY'S SECRET SERVICE.

If any appreciable portion of Germany's remarkable secret service system is on the order of that which furnished it the information that the Lusitania sailed from New York with concealed mounted guns, it is liable to get that country in more than one kind of trouble, particularly if such information is made the basis for action in her dealings with other countries.

Investigations by the United States authorities indicate that the German information in this particular instance was based upon the affidavits of one Stahl, who, there is good reason to believe, did not even go aboard the vessel prior to its sailing from New York. Whether Stahl is any part of the German secret service or not, it appears to have been his information that the German government largely relied upon in making its representations to the United States relative to the alleged guns on the Lusitania.

Doubtless Germany has in her service a considerable number of men who are controlled by a desire to furnish her just the information she wants or in the shape she would like to have it, regardless of the facts. Overzealous employees, at times, get the idea that this is one of the best methods of currying favor with the higher powers, and will adopt it whenever there is an apparent chance of "getting away with it."

In an extensive organization like the German secret service there will always be found scoundrels of this sort who may even be responsible for the loss of human life through furnishing false information.

No government, of course, wants servants of this sort. It is not to be credited that Germany would knowingly tolerate them. We shall continue to believe that Germany wants the truth. As to the alleged armament on the Lusitania, she has been furnished the truth in President Wilson's latest note.

THE WARRIORS SING.

Sermons to soldiers ready to embark for the war front; inspiring song services in churches, are held by all the nations at war; the men go forth to battle with the blessing of bishops, as true Christian soldiers, to fight for king and country.

Such services have been held in Westminster Abbey, notably, with impressive solemnity. The time, the occasion, the setting of the sermons to the clank of swords in that historic temple of the centuries; swords soon to see service in the world's greatest war; the singing of patriotic hymns to great organ accompaniment, have made the scene one of solemn grandeur.

One of the best descriptions of these war services, written by a London correspondent, appeared in The Newark News. The sermon was on "Our Christian Duty as a Nation," the vast congregation joining in the singing of the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," till "the deep-vaulted roof echoed and echoed again with the shout of the final chorus."

A pause followed, then the drums sounded, the band and the organ joined in and the most historic shrine in England rang with the tremendous anthem, "God Save the King." One verse, then the organ softened down to humbler strains, the music died away, and the congregation, kneeling, received the benediction. "The peace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ be with you now and forever more." Peace!—and just a few minutes' walk from the abbey, in a window in Cockspur street, is displayed as a curiosity a pin, enameled in the colors of four nations, and across the face of the badge is engraved a prayer that God may punish England—"Gott Strafe England!" It is beyond me. There can't be two Gods.

But similar scenes are staged everywhere in the war-ruled countries—as they have been since "civilized warfare" came into the world, so that now it amounts to a battle of prayers as well as a battle of guns! While England's Christian soldiers are urged onward to the mowing down of their Christian brethren the enemy, likewise instant in prayer and adjuration, is counseling men to the same duty.

The thing, naturally, is universal. The Turk himself is not one breath behind his Christian enlightened, God-fearing enemies in chanting his prayers for their destruction!

Time and custom have approved such praying, but how the prayers must clash—if they rise above the battle-clouds!

Christian prays against Christian, while the Turk, proficient in the new art of war under Christian instruction, prays either to annihilate or be delivered from them all!

It has the elements of a Comedy of Errors in a world-war tragedy that puts the faith of Humanity to the supreme test.

The cry is "Onward, Christian Soldiers!" With variations to harmonize with differing beliefs they sing it for the marching of the men.

"Onward!" Every cause is "right," every war is "justified."

"Onward!" Arm yourselves with prayer and "Keep your powder dry!"

They go to battle with that benediction—"The Peace of God be with you;" but the only peace, until the world shall be weary of its wars, is the peace upon the faces of the slain, under the battle-clouded skies of the violated lands.

"THE GLEANERS."

The German system of efficiency in war and peace is as nearly perfect as it can be made. Nothing in the least degree contributing to it is overlooked. Everything counts.

The battlefields are gleaned as carefully as the harvest fields. Of the "repair centers" for the battle lines The New York Evening World says:

> Besides keeping the fighters supplied with ammunition and food, these centers are constantly combing the battlefields for broken guns and bayonets, cartridge shells, the clothes and knapsacks of the dead and wounded. The methodical Germans sort these things and take them back to the workshops at the center. There shattered rifles are made as good as new, broken wheels restored, uniforms and outfits cleaned and repaired. Even wornout automobile tires are collected and put through a process that renders the rubber of use in making new tubes. And all this is done in shops not in Germany, but only a few miles from the battle front in northern France.

And care is taken that war cripples do not become burdens on communities. Trade schools under government supervision have been opened to them whereby they are given an opportunity to become self-supporting. In fact, they are required to apply themselves to some useful occupation, according to their abilities, and along this line their pride of independence is a potent factor for the betterment of their conditions.

It is time for this far-reaching national economy which is characteristic of the people. The harvests now are largely of battlefields; and in this connection the cost of keeping the great guns in action—the price of a few shots from their death-dealing engines, would keep starving hundreds in food.

BUILT HIS OWN TOWN.

An enterprising Kansas farmer who had made a fine crop of wheat figured that his profits would dwindle with a long haul. He needed a near town to market that crop and he set his wits to work, with this result, as given in a Kansas dispatch to The New York World:

> Ben Foster, a large land owner, built a town of his own. He erected an elevator, lumber yard, coal yard and store; also residences for his employees.
> He named the town Breton, and now it is getting away from his first idea.
> Other people are moving there and Foster is in a good way to become the proprietor of a thriving country town.

That's the American spirit. This man made his own wheat market, and he is making money. There are many theories about "building up the country." He put his to practical test and won out. It is a clear case of the mountain coming to the man.

If they continue to break into the war they may experience some difficulty in finding a place to fight.

Briefs From Billville.

While peacefully sailing the placid millpond the other day, an envious alligator submarined our vessel, and we were not within a league of the bullfrog war zone.

We are not naturally ag'in' the government, but so many raids have been made on our modest, retiring moonshine still that we have had to fortify it with cast-iron barrels.

We have dispatched a Note to the high sheriff, warning him that we will no longer stand for his deputies surrounding our peaceful domicile. Having levied on our only mule, we were compelled to purchase an automobile, which he is now preparing to attach, for reasons known to himself. There are seven in his family, and we suppose he wants to get them to church on time. We hereby notify him that the only road an auto will run on passes close to the spot in the woods where he plays poker with the judge every Sunday.

OLD-TIME GEORGIA MINERS
Reopen Gold Mines
YIELD TO MODERN SCIENCE

It wasn't more than a half decade ago that the blue-clad hills of northeast Georgia were populated with big, brawny men in boots, wide-brimmed hats and corduroys, who—most of them—wore gold pouches in their belts.

They were robust men of Bona Tankersly's stamp, who used to come down to Nucklesville, which was a flourishing mining camp, and play faro and keno and drink and watch Bona Tank—after whom the town was named—whip, with bare fists, the first man who started a ruction with knife or pistol.

They lived upon the product of the improvised placer, the shaft sunk into a vein of rock that revealed pockets of the precious metal, or the pan that they dipped into the stream. They all had a happy unconcern for tomorrow.

The By-Gone Days.

They lived in the good old days when there was a mint at Dahlonega, and there was a general rush from all parts of the country to the gold fields of north Georgia, where the yellow metal was to be found in abundance.

But those days and those men are done. The few old-timers who limp around Dahlonega and Nucklesville have preserved the history of the old days, and a few women, wives of the old-timers who didn't survive, have preserved the mounds that mark the spot where they lie.

"Gentlemen" Miners.

But a new day has dawned upon the gold fields of the north Georgia mountains, and a new type of men has invaded them. They don't wear gold pouches or corduroys or wide-brimmed hats, unless the hats are Panamas; neither do they come to Nucklesville or Dahlonega for days of revelry.

Nucklesville is shriveled and wasted to a cross-roads community. Dahlonega is built up with new hotels for the ease and comfort of the luxury-loving easterner, who has come down on this gold rush of the twentieth century to replace the men of Bona Tank's stripe.

Pick and Shovel Discarded.

And instead of pick and shovel and hammer and saw they have brought mechanical devices, magnetic instruments and field charts. They have erected mills and engines whose loud noise stir no fragrant memories in the soul of the old-timer who was accustomed to the sound of driving pick.

While the mechanics, the chemists, the clerks and the efficiency experts of the twentieth century gold rush to do the work at the plants (they are no longer called "mines"), the twentieth century mine owner spends most of his time in the larger cities, whiling his hours away there.

New Yorker Sees New Era.

But all this is beside the story told by Francis Leslie Hoff, a mining man of the new era, who sat in the lobby of the Hotel Ansley Friday morning. He represents a large financial concern in New York, and is, himself, a millionaire.

Representing the Colonial Bond and Trust Company of New York city, he has organized the Finley Ridge Mining and Power company, capitalized at a quarter of a million, of which Dr. F. H. Glenn, one of the state's most prominent educators, is president. The new concern has been put into operation at Dahlonega, and is already turning out raw gold.

Mr. Hoff told of a new metallurgical process which has solved the main trouble of the miner of the old days, that of accumulating the "flower" gold that is washed away in the mountain streams, which is so abundant in the north Georgia hills. The application of this process, alone, he says, will make the Georgia division of the Blue Ridge one of the country's most productive gold regions.

Science Does Wonders.

"Science has done wonders for the north Georgia section," he told the reporter. "It has solved many problems that baffled the old-timer of the mines, and has made it possible, not only to acquire the surface gold of the streams, but to probe beneath the soil surface and find the hidden pockets that defied the man who wielded pick and shovel.

"New mechanical devices, laboratory processes and gold-finding devices are opening up the hidden treasures, and within such a short time as sixty days, the mountain territory of Georgia should spring a surprise upon the world. The invasion of northern and eastern—and even western—capital is more pronounced in the vicinity of Dahlonega than in any gold region with which I am acquainted.

"There are a number of big mining plants now in full blast. Plans are being devised for others, and soon Dahlonega—which is the base of all gold field activities in that zone—will present the most thrifty industrial aspect of any small community in the south."

RIPPLING RHYMES
By WALT MASON.

FRA ELBERTUS.

Down to the depths went Elbert Hubbard, with smiling eyes that knew no fear, and all the lovely mermaids rubbered, and Neptune shouted, "See who's here!" Well might there be a great commotion throughout the sea, from east to west, for seldom has old Father Ocean clasped hands with such a splendid guest. The inkstand waits upon his table, his pen is rusting in the sun; there is no living hand that's able to do the work he left undone. There is no brain so keen and witty, no voice with his caressing tones; and Elbert, in the Dead Men's city, is swapping yarns with Davy Jones. And all the world that reads evinces its sorrow that he's dwelling there; not all the warring kings and princes are worth a ringlet of his hair. Death keeps a record in his cupboard of victims of the monarchs' hate; "a million men and Elbert Hubbard," so goes the tally, up to date. If it would bring you back, Elbertus, to twang your harp with golden strings, it would not worry us or hurt us to drown a wagonload of kings.

Why Alexander Wept.

(From an Exchange.)

The teacher was telling his class about the conquest of Alexander the Great. He made the tale a stirring one, and at last reached the conquest of India. Wishing to impress the children, he said:

"When Alexander had conquered India, what do you think he did? Do you think he gave a great feast to celebrate his triumph? No; he sat down and wept!"

"Now, why do you think Alexander wept?" he asked.

Up went a little hand; but when its owner saw it was the only one in view he hurriedly withdrew it.

"Come on now, Tommy," said the teacher in his most persuasive voice, "why do you think Alexander wept?"

"Please sir," said Tommy hesitatingly, "perhaps he didn't know the way back!"

Fatigue Relieved by Candy.

(From The Westminster Gazette.)

The value of candy is recognized by military authorities. The British soldiers in France are reported as consuming "prodigious quantities of sweets." A captain at the front with the British army reports that the canteen has "five times the demand for sweets that was expected, and one-fifth the demand for beer." The Australians encamped in Egypt have eaten all the chocolate to be had in Cairo.

Scientists contend that sugar has much food value and is a good substitute for alcohol. Chocolate, for example, is harmlessly stimulating. Soldiers have discovered what scientists knew before, that sugar will relieve fatigue quickly and give a sense of strength that is real without the subsequent depression experienced by those who use spirits. Sugar and candies are found to be useful not only to the physically tired, but to those who suffer mental exhaustion.

By Wire and Letter, Citizens Praise Editorial on Bryan

From all parts of the country by wire and by letter, The Constitution has received praise for the editorial Saturday on "Private Citizen Bryan," in which it was announced that as a matter of public welfare, no more of his statements would be published during the present crisis with Germany.

Following are a few of the communications received:

Richard H. Edmonds, editor of The Manufacturers' Record, sent the following telegram:

Baltimore, Md., June 12.

RICHARD H. EDMONDS.

The following telegram comes from Chicago:

Chicago, Ill., June 12.

Editor Constitution: The summary of your today's editorial on Bryan shows that you have diagnosed Bryan's disease with greater accuracy than any other journal. Silence is the only medicine that will react on his system.

LYNDEN EVANS.

The following is from J. R. Smith, of Smith & Ewing, the well-known real estate firm:

Editor Constitution: Your timely editorial on "Private Citizen Bryan" commends itself so highly that I want to thank you personally for it. Mr. Bryan's recent action has further convinced me that his entrance into American public life was a public calamity. Properly tempered he could have been a power for good; but, dominated by his selfishness, he has become a menace to America and American institutions. In the present instance it is apparent that he has designedly injected his personality into a diplomatic situation weighty with peril to the nation and, counting upon his political following which heretofore has been of such proportions as to seriously affect national issues, has sought to disturb the peace of the country and seriously handicap the president in upholding the national dignity. It is a source of great satisfaction to the American people to see the president pursuing his course, in the even tenor of his way, while Mr. Bryan is sweating drops of blood trying to explain his conduct which, in the delicate situation confronting the nation, can be counted little short of treason.

While your position is extreme and in ordinary times could be regarded as ill-advised, yet we must consider that in our country, where we have a licensed free press, the editors of our great newspapers become in large measure the custodians of the public welfare, and the example you have set justifies the confidence reposed, in America, in the idea of free speech and a free press.

Yours truly,
J. R. SMITH.

From D. R. Wilder, president of the D. R. Wilder Manufacturing company, comes this letter:

Editor Constitution: Permit the writer to compliment you on your editorial in this morning's issue of The Constitution concerning Mr. William J. Bryan's resignation. If our country ever needed men with brains, ability, forethought and an insight into the future as well as loyal associates in the cabinet, it needs them today. This is not a time or an hour for sentiment or self-aggrandizement, but it is an hour of grave responsibility upon those who have the future and the destiny of our country to solve.

The decision of your paper to allow Mr. Bryan, the sentimentalist and grape juice lecturer, to retire to private life, is timely and wise, and I congratulate you. Yours very truly,

D. R. WILDER.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.

Dr. John C. Olmsted writes the following:

Editor Constitution: Permit me to express my admiration and thorough indorsement of the remarkably fine editorial on "Private Citizen Bryan," which appears in this morning's issue of your paper. Of the various expressions of editorial opinion, treating of this subject, Mr. Bryan's extraordinary and illtimed behavior, yours is by far the ablest that I have seen. Your "diagnosis" of the case of "Private Citizen Bryan" is masterly, while your proposed line of "treatment" covers every feature of the disease(?) and it could well be wished that members of your "faculty" in other parts of the country would pursue the "course of treatment" which you have adopted. Respectfully yours,

JOHN C. OLMSTED, M. D.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.

Dr. Richard R. Daly writes:

Editor Constitution: Permit me to congratulate you upon your editorial today concerning Mr. Bryan.

It is patriotic and wields the weapon with which to clear him out of politics.

Sincerely,
RICHARD R. DALY.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12, 1915.

Harry L. Schlesinger, the manufacturer, writes:

As a private citizen of the United States, I wish to thank you for the editorial on the "Private Citizen Bryan." I hope all the newspapers will act on your suggestion.

HARRY L. SCHLESINGER.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.

DR. EICHELBERGER MAKES REPLY TO REV. G. M. EAKES' STATEMENT

Dr. G. W. Eichelberger, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Georgia, has furnished The Constitution with the following statement in answer to a communication from Rev. G. M. Eakes, published in The Constitution on Sunday morning:

Editor Constitution: A communication printed in your Sunday morning edition, signed by Rev. G. M. Eakes, and dated at Athens, demands a review at the hands of the Anti-Saloon League, in view of the importance of the matter involved and the several inaccuracies of statement which occur therein. The league has, at no time, desired to involve Mr. Eakes in the controversy concerning Mr. Burwell's candidacy for speaker. The league has carefully avoided the use of his name, through feelings of delicacy, and for the further very good reason that Mr. Eakes' connection with the matter is not material to our specific charge that Mr. Burwell has not kept faith with the prohibition majority of Georgia, in that he promised to appoint in the last house "a real temperance committee, giving it a majority of prohibitionists," and that this he failed signally to do.

The league has all along charged nothing at variance with what Mr. Eakes claims concerning his having talked with Mr. Burwell for the league, and his asking for a list for Mr. Burwell; but what he says has no bearing on the charges of indirection which the league has brought against Mr. Burwell. This indirection is well known to the public of Georgia, so that most of what Mr. Eakes says in his letter is matter not in question now and never has been, and is entirely extraneous. Mr. Eakes' paper is, therefore, a very full hod of coals carried to Newcastle. It does not apply.

Inaccuracies Charged.

There are several points of inaccuracy in the article dated from Athens.

First, the statement is made that the "names of the committee were not used in the propaganda of the Anti-Saloon League manager." The absence of truth in this statement will be seen by reference to the GEORGIA COMMONWEALTH, Vol. I, No. 1, page 1, column 1, where the names of the entire committee are printed, and the way in which each one present voted.

Mr. Eakes says: "But taking the list given to me by the Anti-Saloon League for Mr. Burwell's use in forming the committee, this is the way it stands." Then he names fifteen gentlemen as appointed by Mr. Burwell. He evidently meant to say: "Taking FROM the list given to me these names." But he does not say so. The casual or rapid reader would infer that these fifteen names are the only ones given him. Mr. Eakes and the Anti-Saloon League management evidently misunderstand each other about Mr. Eakes' statement, "given me for Mr. Burwell's use," etc. Dr. Young and the secretary both claim that this list was not given Mr. Eakes for Mr. Burwell's use in appointing this committee. The writer upon reading Mr. Eakes' statement in The Constitution at once phoned Mr. Richards, secretary of the league, and he says emphatically that he and Dr. Young and Dr. DuBose were not working together on the list at the time mentioned by Mr. Eakes, as the latter supposed, nor at any other time; but that the list of over a hundred names was being used for other purposes by the league. One of these lists was given Mr. Eakes' brother by the secretary, and Dr. DuBose had nothing to do with it. Dr. DuBose and many others frequently came to the league's office, as they had a right to do, and used tables and stationery for personal correspondence.

Second, Mr. Eakes says that Dr. H. M. DuBose was chairman of the headquarters committee of the Anti-Saloon League at the time of his being asked to see Mr. Burwell. This is not correct. Dr. Lovejoy was at that time acting chairman, as the official record shows.

Leaves Public to Judge.

Mr. Eakes says that Mr. Burwell made no overtures to the league, and intimates that such a charge has been made. We leave the public to judge. Mr. Eakes brought to the league from Mr. Burwell a proposition, in answer to their inquiry, to appoint "a real temperance committee" in the house. The public may call this proposition by whatever name it wishes.

Mr. Eakes says that Mr. Burwell would have nothing to do with Dr. Young. This, no doubt, is the extent of Mr. Eakes' information, for we give him full credit for motives worthy of his high character. But Mr. Burwell DID confer with Dr. Young on this very matter, and after the transaction had with Mr. Burwell by Mr. Eakes. The proof of this is in the testimony of several members of the league and a letter from Dr. Young, presently to be submitted.

Mr. Eakes is in doubt as to who it was that handed him the list. The league officials are in no doubt as to this. It was given to Mr. Eakes' brother some time before, and by him handed to Mr. Eakes, who as, we learn from his article, handed the same to Mr. Burwell. It was the knowledge of the fact that such a list had been put in Mr. Burwell's hands, and that it was not the one which the league expected Mr. Burwell to use in compliance with his promise to appoint a temperance committee, that led Dr. G. W. Young, the superintendent of the league, to AT ONCE call on Mr. Burwell and put the whole affair of the league's just expectation in a proper light. Dr. Young did do so, and the following letter from him compresses the contention of the league in a nutshell. It also shows that, however correct in the main may be Mr. Eakes' statement, it has no bearing on the case. Dr. Young writes:

"Louisville, Ky., April 4, 1914.—Dr. G. W. Eichelberger, Atlanta, Ga.: Yours asking me to write just what promise Mr. Burwell made to me in regard to appointing a temperance committee of the last house is before me.

"He distinctly promised to appoint a DRY temperance committee. I told him I would furnish him a list of known and trusted dry men, any one of whom would be acceptable to us. He said he would thank me to do that. I took such a list to the capitol just after the opening of the session. I sent it to the speaker by a page; I saw the speaker take it, look at it, and look to where I was. I raised my hand to indicate that it was the list I had promised. He bowed and put the paper into his pocket. The result you know. Sincerely yours, G. W. YOUNG."

Mr. Young's statement can be vouched for by a gentleman who was present and is now in Atlanta.

Only One Name on Committee.

Yes, we know the results. One is, that only one name given Mr. Burwell by Dr. Young was placed on the temperance committee. Another is, that Mr. Burwell and Dr. Young did confer, and Mr. Burwell told Dr. Young that he would thank him to give him the list, and this occurred after the incident referred to by Mr. Eakes, thus constituting an entirely new and independent incident upon which the league bases its charge; and thus confirming the league's contention that the omnibus list given Mr. Eakes, through another, was not intended for Mr. Burwell to select his committee from.

The whole history of Mr. Burwell's treatment of the prohibition majority of Georgia, and his and his temperance committee's opposition to the passage of any temperance legislation in the house, are fully known to the public, and Mr. Eakes' gloss of the case falls a long ways short of an explanation.

Mr. Eakes says that the head of the Anti-Saloon League has never consulted him about the facts in this incident. The officials of the league know all that Mr. Eakes knows about these facts and very much more, and still more than has yet been written. Had Mr. Eakes consulted the head of the league he might have hesitated to publish so "promptly," as The Banner says, his letter in that paper. Very cordially yours,

G. W. Eichelberger,
Superintendent Anti-Saloon League.

American Universities.
Michigan.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Michigan was the first of the modern state universities to become great and to get an astonished glare out of Harvard.

It was formerly located in the west at Ann Arbor, but moved east a few years ago and can usually be found hanging around the business manager of the Harvard baseball team waiting for a pleasant nod. It was once champion of the west in almost all branches of athletics, but has exchanged this position for that of Cinderella of the East.

Michigan was founded in 1837 and was the first college west of Harvard to attain an enrollment of 4,000 students. It now has over 6,000 students and is eighth in size in the country. It has $2,200,000 a year to spend and if it keeps growing will be noticed by Yale and Princeton some day.

The University of Michigan is about the size of the rest of Ann Arbor with the Michigan national guard thrown in, and is a mammoth and imposing institution. It has many fine buildings, including an auditorium with an organ so large that the siege of Liege can be successfully imitated upon it. It also has a half-grown stadium with "Welcome, Harvard," built into it in red letters. The athletic association is now hunting for better bait, however.

Michigan has graduated more students than any university in America. This month it spilled its 30,000th alumnus into the clammy and indifferent world. It is also noted for the number of its alumni who elbow their way to front seats. Michigan sends more graduates to congress than any other college. It has never had a president, but it has produced some football players who got about three times as much press notice as a modest and retiring chief executive.

Michigan is co-educational, but not to excess. Its principal heroes are James T. Angell, who planted it deeply in the map while president, and Fielding H. Yost, who planted it with equal depth in the sporting pages of the press. Its colors are maize and blue, its motto, "Go East, Young Man," and its principal ambition is to accumulate so weak a football team that Harvard will consent to play it again.

ASKS SHORT HOURS FOR LABORING MEN

Dr. Jacob L. White Preaches Sermon on the Necessity for Securing an Eight-Hour Day.

Declaring that uniform short hours are necessary for the laboring man, and that the whole world will be better when a uniform eight-hour day is secured, Dr. Jacob L. White, preached an interesting sermon Sunday at the Baptist Tabernacle.

His subject was "Laboring Man's Right to Uniform Short Hours—How to Secure Them," and his text: Mark 4: 36-38. "They took him even as he was in the ship. And he was in the hinder part of the ship, asleep on a pillow."

After touching upon the cause of strikes and deploring the necessity for war between labor and capital, Dr. White spoke, in part, as follows:

"Science has demonstrated that life, to be best and happiest, should have each day divided by three. Eight hours sleep, eight hours recreation, eight hours work. This gives life a balance and preserves equilibrium. It does not sacrifice one part to the others, and meets the needs of a full man or woman. This is for the industrial life and not the professional. The industrial with its one eternal grind, not the professional with its appeal to personality and devotion.

Uniform Short Hours.

"I advocate uniform short hours for labor because of the evils which attend long hours. Professor Clark, of Columbia, says: 'If you want a man to work for you one day and one day only and secure the greatest possible amount of work which he is capable of performing, you must make him work twenty-four hours. If you would have him work a week it will be necessary to reduce the time to twenty hours a day; if you want him to work for a month a still further reduction to eighteen hours a day. For the year fifteen hours a day will do, for several years ten hours; but if you wish to get most out of a man for working a lifetime, you will have to reduce his hours of labor to eight each day.'

"Long hours impair bodily health. Muscles and mind daily overworked weaken and health is impaired. Many accidents on the railroad and elsewhere occur because some one—engineer, brakeman, telegraph operator, someone—is physically exhausted. Exhaustion causes thirst for drink. In England the year after hours were shortened $40,000,000 less was spent for strong drink by the laboring man as a result of short hours.

"Long hours impair mental processes. Too tired to read is the experience of many a man who has worked long hours each day. Cannot read much less study any of the practical questions of the day.

"Long hours deprive one of proper home life: the father breakfasts before the children are up, long hours of work and going to and from work, away all day, home late at night, tired out, must get to sleep. What time has he to get acquainted with his family, or enjoy the great boon of making 'home life?' No time for social pleasure, or if any it is too often dissipation, excess.

"Long hours hinder spiritual development. Some have to work seven days in the week and many claim that the long and late hours of the week leave them too worn out to go to church on Sunday. A lady works in a certain store in this city from 7:30 a. m. to 11:30 p. m. seven days in the week. She must arise in the morning at 6 o'clock and retire at midnight. It is a crying shame that any man with money should compel anyone to work such hours. What chance for any development, either mental, physical or spiritual?

How to Gain Point.

"How to secure uniform short hours. I realize I am using a socialistic term, but make no apology for it, when I say the 'solidarity' of labor interest is the most important factor in securing uniform short hours. There is a solidarity of the money powers seen in the trusts, why not the solidarity of the labor interests? It should be, however, not to destroy life and property to secure its ends. It should be a federation of all interests where the large make the cause of the small their own as well. The church should help to infuse in capital and labor a spirit of fairness. The church should seek to bring the warring factions together that they may know each other. The co-operative churches should work for fair play for both capital and labor.

Life Is a Great Work.

"A fair chance in life should be given to everyone. Human life must be regarded as sacred. We have had perhaps the finest example of this in President Wilson's second note to Germany, in which he says: 'The government of the United States is contending for something much greater than for mere rights of property or profit of commerce; it is contending for nothing less high and sacred than the rights of humanity which every government honors itself in respecting, and which no government is justified in resigning in behalf of those under its care and authority. It is upon this principle of humanity as well as of law founded upon this principle that the United States must stand.'

"Christ again and again emphasized the sacredness of human life. He puts it before property when he says: 'What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his life.' And in the days of life on earth He demands a square deal and a fair chance, and when the fundamental virtue in His ethics—namely, love—is experienced and practiced, we will approach at least the practice of the 'Golden Rule.' Then life will be much more precious than fine gold. But let us not forget that life never ends. There is another world where we must meet all the deeds done in the body. There is a heaven and there is a hell. Blessed are they who know the Lord Jesus Christ, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven. And while we toil here below let us not forget Heaven, for there every little deed in His name—even the giving of a cup of cold water—shall have its reward."

MISS PEARSON'S DEATH MOURNED BY ATLANTANS

The following tribute to Miss Mary Pearson, killed in an automobile accident recently at Bolingbroke, is paid by the Junior auxiliary of the diocese of Atlanta, of which Miss Pearson was president:

Whereas, Mary Pearson, the beloved president of the Junior Auxiliary of the Diocese of Atlanta, passed from the seen into the unseen in one swift instant, we, the members of the Junior Auxiliary sorrow with her mother, brother and all other bereaved hearts heavy with the loss of her mortal presence, yet rejoice with her and with them in the certainty that she has but stepped through a door into a freer, fuller life.

Remembering with joy her mirth, her loyalty, the enthusiasm of her rare temperament, her devotion to the beautiful, her sympathy with all that makes for freedom, purity and joy, we, her fellow-workers, bid her ardent spirit God-speed on the far adventure, whose quest is beyond the stars.

EDITH L'ENGLE GRAHAM,
MRS. W. T. DOWNING,

LAW SCHOOL ALUMNI TO BANQUET TONIGHT

Following Atlanta Law School Graduation, Over 100 Alumni Will Gather.

Directly following the graduation exercises of the Atlanta Law school Monday night, over 100 alumni of the institution will gather for the annual alumni banquet to be held in the Ansley hotel. Basil Stockbridge, president of the alumni association, will preside as toastmaster, and among those who are on the program to respond to toasts are Judge J. H. Lumpkin, of the supreme court; Judge Nash R. Broyles, of the court of appeals; Hamilton Douglas, Sr., dean of the law school; H. L. Bellingrath, and others.

The graduating class, consisting of thirty-one students, will also be present at the banquet, going directly from the graduation exercises at the Atlanta theater.

Judge Broyles will also speak at the commencement exercises at the theater, delivering the final address to the students, preceding the delivery of diplomas and prizes by Hamilton Douglas, Sr. The graduation program will also include addresses by three members of the senior class, Hewitt W. Chambers speaking on "The Empire State," J. Walter LeCraw speaking on "Humanizing the Law Through Georgia's Probation System," and R. M. Arnold making the valedictory speech. The general public is invited to attend, the program beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Hubner's orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

Mrs. Bessie Castleton and Miss Agnes Louise Klein, the two women students of the senior class, will not receive diplomas or degrees from the law school, but will only receive certificates showing the work they have done. This was announced definitely Sunday by Hamilton Douglas, Sr., in response to inquiries. The faculty admitted them to the school on this understanding, and although one of the women students, Mrs. Castleton, will receive the prize for highest scholarship in the entire class of thirty-three, she will not receive a diploma.

PASTOR BELIEVES THAT SOME WARS ARE JUSTIFIABLE

"Jesus and War" was the subject of Rev. C. W. Daniel at the First Baptist church last night, at which time the minister stated that the incidents of the last few weeks following the sinking of the Lusitania, and the past several months' developments of the European war, had brought home to every American man, woman and child the question of peace, so vital to the welfare of this country.

Dr. Daniel stated in his sermon that there was no reference in the Bible where Jesus had passed judgment on or discussed war, but the speaker stated that, in his own opinion, there were some wars and occasions for war which were justifiable. He stated that he thought the United States had acted justly and wisely and within the bounds of righteousness in defending the island of Cuba from Spain and in liberating that island several years ago.

The theme of the sermon, as developed, was that when the Kingdom of God and his Son, Jesus Christ, was established in the world, there would be nothing but peace, and from that peace would come happiness and righteousness.

"City's Fast Young Men Tobogganing to Hell," Asserts Dr. Proctor

"Is the Young Man Safe?" was the text from which Dr. H. H. Proctor drew his theme for his sermon on "The Fast Young Man" at the First Congregational church, colored, last night, the second in the series of sermons on "Safety First."

"The hope of any people lies in its young men. But the fast young man is of no value to any people, save as a signboard of warning. With his smoking, drinking, carousing and impure habits, he is on the toboggan slide to hell and will soon run his race. Disobeying his parents, disregarding his friends, disrespecting God, he soon learns to abhor himself and to find that such a life is not worth living.

"The hope for such a young man is to open his eyes and read the signboards for safety everywhere displayed. Every school-house, every church, every court, every business house, every home is in itself a sign, reading 'Safety First.' I call upon the fast young man to heed these and face about."

BLACKS FORMED UNION TO ROB SMOKEHOUSES

Cordele, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—That a "smoke house union" existed among negroes of Cordele, and that the organization of such a union was to burglarize smoke houses in this and other counties, was brought to light Saturday when police officers arrested Will Jones, Donnie Williams and James Stafford, three negroes, after evidence was worked up showing that members of the trio had stolen a quantity of meat from John W. Jones, a farmer of Worth county, on the night before. The Jones negro, who seems to be the leader of the gang, confessed to the officers the existence on such a "union," and further confessed the theft of immense quantities of meat from citizens in this and Dooly counties.

NAVAL ACADEMY PROBE FAR FROM CONCLUDED

Annapolis, Md., June 13.—Investigation of irregularities in naval academy examination papers, being conducted by a court of inquiry, appointed by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, will enter on a second week tomorrow, with little prospect of an early conclusion.

Starting with seven midshipmen as defendants last Tuesday, the list has been added to until there now are eight midshipmen and six ensigns on trial. The original seven were convicted and recommended for dismissal by an investigation board of officers on the ground that they had guilty knowledge of papers which the board believed were prepared for the last examinations in modern languages and stolen from the office of that department.

Efforts will be made to obtain the testimony of officers and midshipmen on the vessels of the practice squadron by the end of next week, so the cruise through the Panama canal to San Francisco may begin.

RAILROAD IS ENJOINED FROM REMOVING TRACKS

Cordele, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—A temporary restraining order was issued yesterday by Judge W. F. George, of the Cordele judicial circuit, against the Fitzgerald, Ocilla and Broxton railway enjoining the receiver of the road from removing the tracks now running between Osierfield and Broxton, a distance of fourteen miles. An injunction suit was brought by citizens of Broxton against the road when it became known that the receiver had accepted a bid of sale for the tracks lying between the two towns for $8,000. The hearing for permanent injunction will be held before Judge George at Vienna on June 26.

Cantaloupes From Thomas.

Thomasville, Ga., June 13.—(Special.) The first car load of cantaloupes from Thomas county for the season of 1915 was shipped from Meigs on Friday by J. N. Wilkes and Sam Miller. This shipment was several days earlier than the first corload of last year.

PLANS TO ENTERTAIN RED MEN COMPLETED

Officers and Committeemen of Great Council Reach the City Tomorrow.

Final plans for the entertainment of the Red Men of Georgia, who will hold their annual council in Atlanta on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, will be made tonight at a meeting of all the local committees.

All the officers and committeemen of the great council will reach the city tomorrow and hold meetings preliminary to the opening of the council Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

F. O. Downes, of Boston, Mass., great incohonee of the order, will make an address Tuesday night at the Atlanta wigwam. He will be succeeded next year by Thomas H. Jeffries, of Atlanta, now great senior sagamore of the Red Men of America. Mr. Downes will be the guest of Mr. Jeffries while in Atlanta.

The Red Men's council, opening Wednesday morning, will be presided over by J. R. Miller, of Marietta. Mayor James G. Woodward will deliver an address of welcome to the visitors and there will be responses by Mr. Miller and Mr. Downes. Following the open meeting, the Red Men will go into business session.

On Wednesday afternoon Atlanta Red Men will compliment all visiting Red Men with a trolley ride to Stone Mountain, and special cars have already been engaged for the trip.

Degree work will be put on Wednesday night, when a large class will be initiated into the secrets of the order. A ball will follow the initiation.

Memorial services in honor of the late Judge Robert T. Daniel, past great incohonee of the order, will be held on Thursday morning.

Unfinished business will be transacted on Thursday afternoon, and it is probable that a night session will be held.

WILL CELEBRATE UNION OF COLORED BAPTISTS

Heads of Denomination Will Hold Exercises at Auditorium Tuesday Night.

Four hundred and fifty thousand negro Baptists of the state of Georgia, who have held two conventions of missionary and educational associations, consolidated in Macon last week, Professor D. W. Reddick, head of the Americus Industrial college, was elected president.

The heads of the denomination will celebrate the occasion of having come together in the state of Georgia in the Auditorium-Armory Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. The speakers are Rev. Dr. E. E. Morris, president of the National Baptist convention, Helena, Ark.; Rev. W. G. Parks, vice president of the National Baptist convention, Philadelphia, Pa.; Professor R. B. Hudson, secretary of the National convention, Selma, Ala.; Rev. E. W. Isaacs, secretary of the National B. Y. P. U. board, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. Sutton E. Griggs, head of the National Educational board, Memphis, Tenn.; Rev. L. G. Jordan, secretary foreign mission board, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. J. A. Booker, secretary home mission, Little Rock, Ark.; Rev. J. M. Washington, secretary of the National benefit board, Helena, Ark.; Rev. B. D. Gray, corresponding secretary of home mission board (white), and Rev. Dr. C. W. Daniels, pastor First Baptist church (white), Atlanta.

The singing will be a feature of the occasion by the chorus of Wheat Street, Liberty, Ebenezer, Mount Olive and Friendship Baptist churches. The Rev. Dr. P. James Bryant will act as chairman.

Rev. E. C. Morris, head of the National Baptist convention of the negro churches in the United States, preached on "The Old-Time Religion," to 1,500 negroes in Wheat Street Baptist church Sunday.

Rev. Richard Carroll, of Columbia, S. C., made prominent by his writings on "Practical Life of the Negro," Dr. Victor J. Masters, editorial secretary of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention (white); Rev. Richard D. Stinson, principal of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial Institute, and Rev. P. James Bryant sat in the pulpit.

FARGASON IS PAROLED FROM MITCHELL GANG

Thomasville, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Under a parole of twelve months granted by the prison commission, R. C. Fargason has been released from the Mitchell county chaingang. While express messenger between Macon and Savannah about three years ago young Fargason took a package containing $5,000 from the Southern Express company. He went north and managed to elude arrest for some time, but was later arrested and given a four-year sentence, which has been shortened by an appeal from his father to the commission.

Robert the First on Way To Win Atlanta Girl's Heart

Quitman, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—There has been added another Brooks county pig to the halls of fame of pigs immortal. The express company this afternoon took charge of "Robert the First, Pride of Brooks," a pure bred Brooks county Duroc-Jersey pig, and will deliver him Monday morning to Miss Mabel Redding, office secretary of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, who is said to be a lover of pigs, big pigs and little pigs, but who especially craved to have a real live Brooks county pig.

Several times recently Miss Redding has thrown out strong hints to Secretary E. Y. Clarke, of the Brooks County Industrial club, to the effect that she wanted a Brooks county pig, but Mr. Clark failed to take the various hints, and so when first he appeared at the office of the Georgia Chamber after the animal industry convention Miss Redding laid aside her bashfulness and wanted to know why it was after she had done such hard work in the office for the convention that she could not have a Brooks county pig of fame. Mr. Clarke assured her that the Industrial club would send her a pig, a real prize winning "Pride of Brooks," and so the pig is on its way.

The following telegram was sent to Miss Redding this afternoon:

"Miss Mabel Redding, Georgia Chamber Commerce, Atlanta, Ga., Robert the First, Pride of Brooks pure bred Duroc-Jersey pig, gentle, but haughty and fully aware of his prize winning qualities, went forward to you by express today with our compliments. If given good treatment he will win for himself and his owner an enviable name and fame.

"BROOKS CCOUNTY INDUSTRIAL CLUB."

Robert was donated to the club for the purpose and career on which he has embarked by his owner, Norman Hendry, one of the largest farmers of Brooks county.

ASSOCIATION IN GRADY BOOSTS STOCK RAISING

Thomasville, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The Live Stock association of Grady county is an organization that is doing good work for the improvement of stock raising in that county. It was organized with a large membership of farmers and others interested in the business and at a meeting a few days ago seventy-five new members were added. W. B. Roddenberry is president of this association and D. L. Williams, secretary.

CORNELIA WOMAN DIES ON HER 58TH BIRTHDAY

Cornelia, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Mrs. T. N. Neal died at her home here this morning at 8 o'clock after an illness of only a few days, her death occurring on her fifty-eighth birthday. She is survived by her husband and several brothers and sisters. The funeral services will be conducted from the Baptist church Monday morning by Rev. W. J. Barton. The interment will be at Level Grove.

PROPERTY OWNERS ON PONCE DE LEON PLAN FOR REPAVING

Property owners on Ponce de Leon avenue are urged to attend a citizens' meeting tonight at the residence of Walter McElreath when final plans for the paving of that avenue will be adopted. The improvement will cost about $50,000 and will be done jointly by the city and county.

A majority of the property owners have expressed a desire for brick paving between the car tracks and asphalt macadam between the tracks and the curb. General council is willing to do the work on the assessment plan as soon as at least fifty-one per cent of the abutting property owners sign a petition asking for the improvement and agreeing to the assessment plan.

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary mercolized wax will aid you in this direction more than shelves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, prepurable at any drugstore, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvenating treatment—this for wrinkles—is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1½ oz., dissolved in ½-pt. witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loose tissue. —(adv.)

Southern and National Golf Titles Start Tuesday

Annual South Atlantic Tennis Tourney Begins Today

The eighteenth annual South Atlantic States Tennis tournament for the Country club challenge cups will be held on five clay courts of the Country club of Augusta, Ga., beginning Monday, June 14, and the following days during that week until completed, under the auspices of the United States National Lawn Tennis association.

Events.

Men's singles and men's doubles.
Ladies' singles and mixed doubles.
Consolation events in men's singles.

Trophy Cups.

Twelve cups to be given as follows: Three-year trophy cups are offered in men's singles and men's doubles. (In the latter event the holders are required to play through.) These cups are to become the property of the players first winning them three times, not necessarily in succession.

Ladies' challenge cup to become the property of the winner.

First and runner-up cups will be awarded in men's singles and men's doubles; also cup offered lady in mixed doubles.

Consolation cup in men's singles.

Conditions.

Entrance fees are $1.50 in men's singles, and $1 for each player in all other events. Entries should be made to the chairman of the tennis committee; they will close at 10 a. m., Monday, June 14.

Drawings will be made immediately after the closing of the entry list at rooms of the Country club, headquarters of the tournament. Play will commence Monday afternoon, June 14, at 3 o'clock, and any player not on the courts when called for play will be defaulted. Time for each match will be posted and every effort made to run the events off promptly. If deemed necessary by the tennis committee, games will also be played in the morning. The best two in three sets will be played in all matches, except finals in men's singles and doubles and challenge match in men's singles, where the best three in five will be played. John Harper will act as referee and S. L. Nurnberger of the Lakeside club and F. W. Capers, assistant referees.

This tournament is open to all players, the committee reserving the right to pass upon eligibility of any entry.

Spalding's Championship balls will be used.

Accommodations.

The club will be placed at the disposal of the visiting players without charge. Meals will be served in the club cafe each day to visiting players as a part of the entertainment offered by the club to its guests.

The tennis committee will secure special rates for any players who may care to stop at the hotels. Visitors desiring rooms in private boarding houses near the club can secure same by communicating with any of the committee.

Amusements and Entertainments.

Two fine eighteen-hole golf courses, and the many other facilities of the club, will be placed at the disposal of th visiting players. On Thursday night, June 17, the tennis committee will give its annual dance in honor of the visitors and participating players.

Finals 1914.

The finals for 1914 were as follows: Singles—Stellman Bain, of Savannah, defeated J. K. Orr, of Atlanta. Doubles—Carter and Orr, of Atlanta, defeated Waring and Waring, of Columbia, S. C. E. V. Carter, of Atlanta, defended his title of champion.

Camel CIGARETTES

You instantly appreciate the Camels flavor, because the blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos is more delightful than either tobacco smoked straight! Compare them with cigarettes you like best.

Understand, Camels can't bite your tongue, can't parch your throat, and leave no unpleasant cigaretty after-taste.

Cost of tobaccos blended in Camel Cigarettes prohibits the use of coupons or premiums.

CAMELS sell 20 for 10c. If your dealer can't supply you, send 10c for one package or $1.00 for a carton of ten packages (200 cigarettes), sent postage prepaid. If after smoking one package you are not delighted with CAMELS, return the other nine packages and we will refund your dollar and postage.

Cubs 6, Braves 4.

Chicago, June 13.—Chicago defeated Boston 6 to 4 in the first game of the series here today. The world's champions hit Vaughn hard in the opening inning, scoring four runs. Chicago tied it up in their half when they bunched four hits, which included doubles by Knisely and Zimmerman and a home run by Williams. Kniseley's double and two sacrifices put Chicago in the lead in the third. Lavender replaced Vaughn and held the visitors to three scattered hits. Extra players on the Boston bench had a verbal duel with Umpire Quigley and eight were sent to the clubhouse. They were Captain Evers, Ragan, Whaling, Tyler, Moran, Egan, Cather and Hughes.

Mobile, Ala., June 13.—Holmquist pitched a remarkable game for Mobile today, and Birmingham was beaten, 3 to 0. Only twenty-nine batsmen faced Holmquist, the visitors going out in order except in the second, when Magee singled, and the ninth, when Robertson walked. Mobile played sensational ball in the field, and ran wild on the bases, Hale failing to stop one of seven steals.

Nashville, Tenn., June 13.—Rube Kissinger won his fourth straight game today, giving Nashville an easy game from Chattanooga, 5 to 1. The single run made by Chattanoga was a home run over the right field fence. Johnston was knocked unconscious in the sixth when one of Kissinger's fast ones struck him in the temple. He was carried from the field, but revived. All of Nashville's runs were made after two were out.

RAIN PREVENTED GAME; ONLY ONE GAME TODAY

New Orleans, La., June 13.—(Special.) Rained out for the first game postponed at Heinemann park this season, Bill Smith and his Atlanta Crackers rested up today, disappointed because they will have no chance to get an even break on this trip to New Orleans, as only one game is scheduled for tomorrow.

Manager Smith announced that Perry or Allen would be his choice for slab work in this final game. Smith could not tell if any material changes would be made in his line-up, but said that the team in all probability would face the Pels in the same array as of Saturday.

Either Gudger or Smith will pitch for New Orleans. Manager Smith is confident the Crackers will take tomorrow's game.

Final Practice Round for Golf Title Monday

Every Visiting Entrant Will Have Arrived by Noon—Qualifying Round All Day Tuesday.

By Dick Jemison.

Within the neighborhood of one hundred and fifty out-of-town entrants and as many or more local entries, the fourteenth annual tournament of the Southern Golf association will commence tomorrow morning on the East Lake course of the Atlanta Athletic club.

Entrants from Memphis, Chattanooga, Nashville and Knoxville in Tennessee, Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile in Alabama, Augusta, Macon, Savannah, Rome and Atlanta in Georgia, New Orleans and Shreveport, La., Little Rock, Ark., Charleston, S. C., and points in Texas and Florida, form the classiest field ever entered in this the premier golf classic of the year in the south.

The East Lake course is in splendid condition, Professional Stewart Maiden being due the thanks of every entrant for the splendid condition that he has put this splendid course in.

Nelson Whitney, the champion, will not be on hand to defend his title. This leaves the settling of the championship an open issue. Had Whitney entered, he would have ranked as the favorite again. An injury a week ago, when he was hit in the eye by a golf ball, prevents his attendance.

Qualify Tuesday.

All day Tuesday will be devoted to qualifying, and the start will probably have to be made as early as 7 o'clock for all the entrants to get in their round. Each pair will be sent away from the first tee at intervals of five minutes. At this rate 144 of the contestants can be started by noon.

Players can be sent away from the tee up to 4 o'clock in the afternoon and finish their qualifying rounds before dark. If this plan is carried out, every entrant can get in their round.

In the qualifying round Tuesday, the team prize will also be decided when teams of four golfers playing from each city entered will contest with their aggregate medal play score counting. The four men with the lowest aggregate winning the prize for their city.

There will be a trophy for the winner of the low score medal play, and it is difficult to forecast who this is likely to be.

Players will be paired as fast as they report to the golf committee. Some of them will probably be paired up today, though the majority will probably be paired off when they report to the golf committee at the first tee Tuesday.

Players can select their partner for the qualifying round, provided they do not select a member of their own club.

Championship Division.

The sixty-four players with the lowest scores in the qualifying round will comprise the championship division, and will play their first round of match play Wednesday morning.

The defeated thirty-two will form the third and fourth flights, and the winning thirty-two the championship and second flights. In the afternoon Wednesday these two thirty-twos play a match round of eighteen holes to determine the first and second and third and fourth flights.

The second and third rounds will be played Thursday, with the defeated eights in the four flights playing their first round of match play Thursday afternoon.

Friday morning and afternoon thirty-six holes of match play, the semi-finals, will be played in all flights and in all the defeated eights. The finals in all events will be staged Saturday.

Players who qualify higher than the first sixty-four will then be paired off for play in the invitation tournament that will be held at Druid Hills in conjunction with the championship tournament.

The first and second rounds of match play in all flights at Druid Hills will be played Thursday, the semi-finals Friday morning and the finals Friday afternoon.

Trophies.

In addition to the team play trophy and the low qualifying score trophy there will be a trophy for the winner and runner-up in each of the four flights at East Lake, a trophy for the winner of each of the defeated eights at East Lake and a trophy for the winner and runner-up of each flight at Druid Hills.

It is difficult to forecast a winner, and there will be little, if any, wagering until after the pairings of the match play rounds are figured.

The annual meeting of the Southern Golf association, at which time officers will be elected for the ensuing year and the place of the tournament in 1916, will be Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Today all the golfers will engage in practice rounds over the East Lake course. Practically every one of the out-of-town entrants is scheduled to arrive by noon today.

RAILROAD MEN PLAN TO GET EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and Trainmen Hold Joint Meeting.

The first joint meeting ever held in Georgia of the two brotherhoods of the locomotive firemen and enginemen and of the railroad trainmen took place yesterday afternoon at 345½ Marietta street for the purpose of discussing an eight-hour day for members of these unions.

There were present H. Golf, general chairman of the southern system of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the heads of all the labor organizations represented in Atlanta. Those who spoke pointed out that the members of these brotherhoods were working in many instances twelve hours per day, and that the lowest number of hours in a few favored localities were ten.

The movement inaugurated Sunday in Atlanta is part of a movement for better conditions among railroad men generally, which will cover in its scope the United States and Canada. So successful was the meeting and so much interest elicited from the 350 railroad men present that another joint meeting has been called for next month, to which the members of the brotherhoods of the conductors and engineers will be invited.

YOUNG MEN NEEDED BY CHURCHES TODAY, SAYS B. R. HOLMES

"Christ's Call for the Young Men of Today," was the subject of an address made by B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes Institute, to the union meeting of the Christian Allen Endeavor leagues of the city, in St. James A. M. E. church, Sunday evening at 3 o'clock. President Holmes said that there were more than 150 colored churches in the city; 500 ministers, with a membership of 20,000.

"There are more than 40,000 colored people in the city who do not attend church, Sunday schools and Christian leagues. Many of them spend their Sundays on the streets, in ice cream parlors, blind tigers, gambling, fighting, robbing and killing one another. Christ's call is for young men who will help to make the city better, by joining the Christian organizations, whose object is to lessen crime and make good citizens."

I. J. Jones, president of the leagues, made his annual address. Music was furnished by the leagues.

The closing address was made by Rev. W. A. Fountain, president Morris Brown university.

CHICAGO MAYOR WILL DRIVE LAST NAIL IN SPEEDING

Chicago, Ills., June 13.—(Special.)—Preliminary to the formal dedication of Chicago's new speedway, Mayor William Halle Thompson today was initiated as a member of the Carpenters' union, so that he may perform the ceremony of driving the last nail, a gold one, in the two-mile plant course next Monday.

The business of making a union carpenter out of the mayor was accomplished with due formality in the city hall, where members of the union's district council and officials of the speedway park association convened. President Metz and Secretary Dan Galvin, of the union, administered a secret oath to Mayor Thompson, and then he was presented with a working card.

Then the mayor promised Christian F. Wiehe, speedway director, that he would sp

COTTON GAINED 8 TO 12 POINTS

Trading, However, Was Confined to Narrow Limits—Coming Note to England to Be Factor.

New Orleans, June 13.—The cotton market last week displayed no very decided disposition to advance or decline. Breaks were followed by quick recoveries and bulges were held down to narrow limits by the profit taking tendencies on the long side. Opening was unsettled and the market uncertain because of the developments in the political situation, although at the end of the week the trade had a more cheerful view of the negotiations with Germany than it has hitherto entertained.

Prices closed at a net gain of 8 to 12 points over the previous week's close. At the highest they were 15 to 18 points over and at the lowest six to ten points down.

Aside from politics, interest was centered in the new crop, advices concerning which were highly favorable, but which did not lead to pronounced selling. This was explained by the contention that the market already was short and the disposition on the part of traders was to hold fresh commitments down to small proportions.

Should there be less tension in the relations between this country and Germany this week, the diplomatic field would lose much of its interest for cotton traders, although the forthcoming American note to England on neutral shipping is beginning to be a factor of importance, since it may vitally affect the movement of the new crop. Bulls are eagerly waiting for concessions from the allies regarding cotton shipments and any indications of the granting of such concessions would be quickly followed by much higher prices because, at the moment, the outlet for the new crop does not appear promising and exporters are not able to go ahead with their usual forward business.

Crop news will increase in importance this week because of the nearness of the second condition report of the season and the preliminary report on acreage. Light and scattering showers would be beneficial in some sections, but anything like heavy and continued rains would be regarded as a bullish influence of great weight.

WAR ORDERS ARE STILL HELPING STEEL MILLS

New York, June 13.—Pittsburg steel mills are still benefiting in large measure from heavy contracts for rolled and cast steel due either directly or indirectly to the war. The large gain in May orders booked by the steel corporation subsidiaries came mainly from this source. The principal increase in domestic business lately has been and is because of the large equipment order placed by the Pennsylvania railroad, including the distribution this week of rail contracts aggregating 155,500 tons. Since January 1, the rail mills have taken orders for 1,300,000 tons, equal to less than 50 per cent of mill capacity. The Edgar Thompson rail mill and the Ohio works at Youngstown of the Carnegie Steel company were utilized during the week to roll round bars for making shrapnel, recent orders for which have aggregated more than 100,000 tons.

The average output of steel ingots by the steel corporation in May was 77 per cent of capacity, or 1,203,000 tons, indicating production of 943,000 tons of rolled products. Shipments averaged about 37,000 tons per day and orders, exceeding shipments by 4,000 tons per day, were in excess of 41,000 tons daily.

Some substantial orders for steel rounds, car wheels and car axles, were placed last week, but one of the most encouraging features is the urgent demand for ocean-going ships. Domestic merchant interests want 40 more and foreign interests 10 more boats of 1,500 to 18,000 tons burden. All present marine ways are full for eighteen months to two years. Provision must be made for expansion.

Steel building and bridge work continued light.

Condition of Treasury.

Washington, June 13.—The condition of the United States treasury at the close of business yesterday was:

Net balance in general fund, $18,-865,727.

Total receipts, $2,948,911.

Total payments, $1,863,366.

The deficit this fiscal year is $100,-978,801 against a deficit of $32,738,053 last year, exclusive of Panama canal and public debt transactions.

Atlantic & Birmingham Construction Company

The undersigned, the Equitable Trust Company, of New York, successor trustee under an agreement dated April 30, 1910, between Atlantic and Birmingham Construction Company and The Trust Company of America, trustee, gives notice that default having occurred in the payment at maturity of the principal of the joint notes of Atlantic and Birmingham Construction Company and Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad Company issued under said agreement of April 30, 1910, the undersigned on June 23, 1915, at 12 o'clock noon, at the exchange salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, will sell at public auction the following securities, being part of the collateral held by the undersigned as trustee under the agreement above named:

$750,000 face value First Mortgage 5 per cent Interim Gold Bonds of Brunswick Steamship Company, dated July 1, 1907, of the denomination of $50,000 face value each; due by their terms $50,000 face value thereof on the first day of July, 1915, and $50,000 face value thereof on the first day of July in each year thereafter to and including the first day of July, 1929, subject to prior payment as therein provided. Each of these bonds bear an indorsement by the Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies Steamship Lines of the assumption to pay the principal and interest thereof as the same may become due and payable respectively, in pursuance of the contract for the purchase of the steamships covered by the mortgage; each of said bonds bear a further indorsement of the payment of the interest due January 2, 1915;

11,000 shares capital stock of the Brunswick Steamship Company of the par value of $100 each;

40,000 shares common capital stock of the Woodward Iron Company or the par value of $100 each;

DEMAND NOTE of the Brunswick Steamship Company, dated August 1, 1910, in the sum of $104,166.67; reduced by indorsement of payments on account of principal to $10,-090.16; with interest at the rate of 5 per cent, from January 6, 1915;

DEMAND NOTE of the Brunswick Steamship Company, dated August 1, 1910, in the sum of $4,166.67, with interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from January 6, 1915.

Dated May 18, 1915.

THE EQUITABLE TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK.

OPTIMISTIC TONE TO STOCK MARKET

Week's Trading Showed Confident Views of Future—But Little Fear of Rupture With Germany.

New York, June 13.—The week's stock market registered confident views of the future, slightly restrained by solicitude over the controversy with Germany. The resignation of Secretary Bryan momentarily deepened fears of an immient rupture, but later opinion became more hopeful for an adjustment.

Extraordinary trade conditions operated favorably on stocks. Warnings against exaggeration in reports of war orders came from trade authorities. The department of commerce also pointed out that the year's increase of exports was traceable to foodstuffs, with decrease of manufacturers, trade with non-belligerent countries, especially in the western hemisphere, showing declines.

Lowest price for the new wheat crop was touched under the influence of the promise of a record yield and reported falling off in export buying. The rise of refined copper with advances in other ammunition metals indicated the special effect of the war's demands. Motor shares were affected by favorable financial exhibits and further contracts from the warring nations.

United States Steel's May gain in unfilled tonnage, with mill activity fully sustained, gave substantial evidence of expanded business.

A very considerable part of the week's business represented a renewal of speculative interest. Investment inquiry continued to show conservatism, but the best judgment is that round amounts of high grade securities have gone into strong hands recently.

BANK CLEARINGS IN UNITED STATES FOR PAST WEEK

The clearings in the United States for the past week, as reported to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $2,162,543,000 against $3,069,203,000 week before last and $3,031,695,000 in this week last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $143,961,000, as against $111,429,000 week before last and $181,715,000 in this week last year.

Following are the returns for week before last, with percentages of change from this week last year:

Chamber of Atlanta Exchanges Courtesies With Over 100 Boards

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has arranged for reciprocal relations with commercial bodies over the United States, having already secured the exchange courtesies with more than a hundred commercial bodies, a large number in the western states.

A good many members of the Atlanta organization will be traveling this summer, many going to the Pacific coast, and this arrangement will be of much value to them, as these organizations will be glad to extend the members the usual courtesies on presentation of the membership card.

A neat pocket membership card has been prepared, and members in good standing are requested to call at the office of the chamber and secure one before they start on their travels.

In turn, the Atlanta chamber will honor the membership cards of the organizations with which this arrangement has been perfected.

High-grade cattle fodder is a new French product from tomato seeds. The seeds are dried in a furnace, sifted to remove woody fiber, crushed by heated millstones, freed from oil in a hydraulic press and compressed into four-pound loaves.

Strong Commencement Sermon Preached to Georgia Students

Knowledge of the Lord Greatest of All Learning, Declares Rev. John D. Mell.

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special)—Commencement Sunday at the University of Georgia was marked by one of the strongest sermons ever heard from the rostrum of the historic old chapel, delivered by Rev. John D. Mell, D. D., one of the most eminent Baptist ministers of the state, a son of a former chancellor of the university and a resident himself all his life of the college town.

The text was Phil. 3:8: "I count all things loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus, my Lord."

The character of Paul, the great Apostle who made this assertion, was discussed as a preface to the discussion of the theme—a man educated with native and acquired ability and wide experience. Paul was a witness, he said, who could speak with authority when he declared that all of the good things of the world that had been in the past or are to be in the future were as nothing compared with a knowledge of Jesus Christ. Clear and convincing was his discussion of what this knowledge of Christ means and how it is obtained. He stressed the individual experience of religion, an experience that can be realized by the ignorant as well as the educated, obtained in simple and easy way if the heart is in accord with God.

Monday's Exercises.

The sophomore declaimers held the stage of the commencement events yesterday evening, the winner to be announced Tuesday. Monday morning the exercises of the undergraduates representing the various branch colleges of the university will take place at 10:30 o'clock.

Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock the first address ever delivered before a chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa in Georgia will be delivered by General Peter W. Meldrim, of Savannah. The public has been invited. In the evening the initiation of a number of men who have made records to entitle them to membership in this Order of the Key—the highest collegiate honorary fraternity in the United States—will take place.

Governor Slaton has reserved rooms at the hotel for himself, Mrs. Slaton and Mrs. Grant. They will arrive late tomorrow. The governor delivers the alumni association address Tuesday.

Sphinx Reunion.

Beginning with a banquet at the Georgian hotel tomorrow night, the Sphinx reunion will get under way. Headquarters have been opened in the Hodgson-Shackelford building facing College avenue, and from the large number of men who have already reached the city the gathering is going to be largely attended.

Reunion headquarters will be opened Monday morning, and all the visitors invited to visit the rooms and be served with refreshments. Open house will be kept all day. The members will also get here large "S's," such as they wore when being initiated, and will wear them during the day.

At 5 p. m. a smoker will be given in the convention hall of the Holman building. There will be plenty to smoke, fried chicken in quantities and punch. An alumni organization will be perfected, and a business session held. Harrison Jones, of Atlanta, will act as chairman.

The initiation of the commencement neophites that usually takes place from Thursday through Sunday has been changed from these days to begin today and run through Tuesday.

George L. Harrison, of Atlanta; R. W. Wesley, of Decatur, and Charles Tanner, of Carrollton, have been elected and will be initiated.

Atlanta Elks to Celebrate Flag Day at Home Tonight

As a patriotic order, the Atlanta lodge of Elks will conform with the custom in vogue all over the United States among Elks and hold its annual Flag day exercises tonight at 8 o'clock, in its home on Ellis street. The Flag day exercises of B. P. O. E. are among the most impressive of any services in the order.

The history of the flag, which is known by every Elk, will be given by Courtland S. Winn, for the benefit of Atlantans, not Elks, who will be present.

Preston Arkwright and Dr. W. W. Memminger will be the principal orators.

The following is the program for the exercises, to which the public is invited:

Overture—Brother S. A. Albright's orchestra.

Orchestra—"Star Spangled Banner." (Audience is requested to stand and sing.)

Introductory Exercises—Officers of the lodge.

Prayer—Brother W. A. Roane, chaplain.

Vocal Solo—Aria from "Madame Butterfly," Mrs. F. C. Jenkins.

Reading History of the Flag—Brother Courtland S. Winn.

"Columbia Gem of the Ocean"—Orchestra.

Altar Service—Officers of the lodge.

Song—Officers and members, "Auld Lang Syne."

Elks Tribute to the Flag—Brother Preston Arkwright.

Medley—"Conzonetta," orchestra.

Violin Solo—Mrs. Annie Mueller.

Oration—Brother W. W. Memminger.

Song—Lullaby from Joslin, Mrs. F. C. Jenkins.

Benediction—Brother Rabbi David Marx.

No Room for Pessimism, Says Rev. W. R. Hendrix

Rev. W. R. Hendrix preached at St. Mark's church from the topic, "Seeing life whole." Text, Matt. vi., 31, "Take, therefore, no thought saying what shall we eat? or what shall we drink? or wherewithal shall we be clothed?"

He said in substance:

"We should strive to see life whole. Matthew Arnold has a line describing a friend: 'He saw life steadily, he saw life whole.' This should be true of the Christian thought of today. The segments of a circle may puzzle us, but when all are joined in their complete circuit we see the full sweep of the idea that planned them.

"We should get out of any nervous anxiety today about tomorrow's happenings. When we look at the whole question of food and raiment we should remember God has thought all that out. If we are invited to visit a friend it would not be appropriate for us to question all around to see if we will be cared for; we need not explain to the servant that we expect a comfortable bed to sleep on or to confer with the cook or nose about the kitchen to see if we are going to have enough to eat. When the foundations of the world were laid God knew we must eat. He ordained sun and moon and the process of seasons for each year to provide for all our needs. A busybody who doubts God's providence or the provisions made for our supplies is always a nuisance.

"We are coming as a people to take a more whole view of things; we are adapting ourselves to the larger view. Education today is synthetic. We used to begin our study of geography with a futile attempt to grasp the universe. Today the child's first lesson is a study of the back yard, then the front yard, the street, the field beyond, the village, the city, county, state, the continent and the round world. The child can grasp the full view better when he knows the nearer things first.

"We need to live our life with reference to its whole meaning and destiny. This life is wherein we may follow the idea of increasing our holdings on the good and better things, wherein we may lay up treasure that is not merely an accumulation of perishable securities, but treasure that may not be corrupted. Don't gather up a lot of stuff you have to leave behind. Don't buy one hundred and fifty palm beach suits for one short summer. You don't need them. Make investments worth while that shall be a true reward and always reliable.

"We are beginning to deal with questions of health, with epidemics, with scientific accuracy as to the food, water and milk supply, proper nursing, ventilation, sanitation and other practical needs for the safeguarding of the public and individual health. We do not merely put a cool cloth on a fevered brow and refuse water and food to the patient until he may be well, or dead, in spite of us.

"The process of real reform and making all things finally right in the world does not belong to any one generation, not even our own. The world will move on all right when all we people are dead and gone. Our remedies we so earnestly strive to apply for the ultimate good of the earth may all be of no use through our own ignorance. A soothing poultice will not heal a leper's diseased hand. We must know what we are about when we combat with wrong, or disease or evil or when we advocate reforms. Impatience, narrowmindedness and abuse never did and never can remedy a great wrong.

Taylor Helping City In Getting Petitions To Resurface Streets

City Clerk Walter Taylor has come to the rescue of general council in its effort to get the asphalt streets of the city resurfaced by the new Lutz heaters recently leased by the city for that purpose. A portion of Whitehall street has already been repaired with the machines and is considered practically as good as new pavement.

On mmany of the asphalt streets the abutting property owners have taken little interest in the improvement, with the result that the machines which were secured by the city at a good cost have been standing idle. The aldermanic board failed to concur in a council paper to appropriate $100 to pay for the services of a man to canvass the property owners and secure fifty-one per cent of the property owners' names to a petition asking for resurfacing the streets.

The city clerk solved the problem by offering to assign one of his assistants to this work and have it done without expense to the city. The petition will be circulated this week and work will probably begin within the next ten days.

By joining with the city the property owners can have the streets resurfaced at sixty cents per yard against four or five times that amount if a new pavement is put down.

Atlanta Music Lovers Enjoy Splendid Concert At Auditorium-Armory

Atlanta music lovers to the number of nearly 2,000 Sunday afternoon enjoyed one of the best recitals of the season at the Auditorium-Armory, with Edwin Arthur Kraft at the organ and Joseph Maerz at the piano. The latter consented at the request of the Atlanta Music Festival association to assist Mr. Kraft in the recital and his hearers were delighted at his rendition of several difficult yet beautiful selections from Liszt, Wagner and Chopin.

Mr. Maerz, playing of Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12 won much praise and applause and he proved his familiarity with the instrument and his rare musical temperament in Wagner's "To the Evening Star."

At the Jamestown exposition Mr. Maerz gave daily recitals for six weeks and he has given concerts in practically every state in the nation. He was for several years director of the conservatory of music at Syracuse, N. Y., and last year assumed the duties of director of the conservatory of music of Wesleyan Female college, at Macon, Ga.

Mr. Kraft was in his usual good form at the organ Sunday, and since he has announced that he will leave Atlanta to accept a position in Cleveland, Ohio, in the fall, his many friends contemplate missing none of his Sunday concerts while he remains.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Tybee Island, Ga., June 13.—(Special.) The eleventh annual convention of the Cotton Seed Crushers' Association of Georgia will be held at Hotel Tybee on June 14, 15 and 16. President P. D. McCarley and Secretary E. P. Chivers, both of Atlanta, headed the large delegation which came in a special train over the Central of Georgia railway from Atlanta, arriving in Savannah Sunday morning.

The crushers were met at the depot by the Savannah Automobile club and were taken to the Savannah Yacht club, where they were entertained at breakfast as the guests of G. Gebhardt & Co. and J. H. Herbener & Co. Afterwards they were taken for a tour of the Chatham county roads and a drive around the race course, as the guests of the Savannah Automobile club.

Hundreds of members arrived at the hotel during the day and the attendance will break all records, according to a statement made tonight by Secretary Chivers.

The opening session will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning, at which time the convention will be called to order by Hon. C. M. Raphun, manager of the Savannah convention and tourist bureau, and addresses of welcome will be delivered by Hon. A. P. Wright, of Tybee Island, and Hon. Richard J. Davant, mayor of Savannah, to which a response will be made by John T. Dennis, Jr., of Elberton, Ga., on behalf of the association.

The features of the morning session will be the address of President P. D. McCarley and that of Dr. E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist, whose subject, "The Boll Weevil—Its Advance Into Georgia," will be heard with a great deal of interest.

A number of entertaining social features have been planned for the crushers during their stay on the island.

Flag Day Exercises Will Be Held Today At the Driving Club

Flag day exercises will be held by the Joseph Habersham chapter, Daughters of the American Republic, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club. All D. A. R.'s, the Uncle Remus association and the United Daughters of the Confederacy are invited to attend. A short business session will be held before the program.

In his illustrated lecture tonight at the Baptist Tabernacle on the European War as I Have Seen It," Dr. Len G. Broughton, formerly of Atlanta, but now of Knoxville, Tenn., will take occasion to give his opinion of the resignation of W. J. Bryan as secretary of state.

Dr Broughton's ideas as regards Mr. Bryan are set forth in a portion of a telegram to Dr. J. L. White, pastor of the tabernacle, in which he says:

"Will deal with recent farce pulled off in Washington as part of lecture."

Dr. Broughton will also tell of America's commercial opportunities as a result of the European war and will tell why he unqualifiedly indorses the ship purchase bill.
